

RIOT IN LAKE PRISON; 2 DEAD

NATURE PLAYS
IRONIC JOKE ON FOES OF SEAWAYLakes Rise as They Fight Diversion.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Cleveland, O., July 28.—Just as the six lake states with the backing of the five billion dollar combine of steel, shipping and water power interests inaugurated their drive against the diversion of lake water necessary to the proposed lakes-to-the-gulf waterway job, in a particularly ironical mood, nature that the lakes should overflow.

There is now too much water in the lakes, although there has been no diversion of the diversion at Chicago. From all over the lakes arises the cry that harbor properties are flooded, that lake resorts are under water, that bluffs and other banks are being washed away, that boat houses are submerged. Untold damage has resulted from the rise in lake levels, despite the Chicago diversion.

Ohio Builds Sea Wall.

The state of Ohio, one of the principal complainants that Chicago is raising the lakes, is expending thousands of dollars building a sea wall to protect Camp Perry on Lake Erie from inundation. Riparian owners in the vicinity of Buffalo are bombarded by the office of the government district engineers with complaints of damage to their properties from high water.

Residents of the cities and villages of Toledo, Detroit, Bay City, Sandusky, Milwaukee and Grand Haven have joined in the chorus of lamentation over the havoc wrought by a rise of three feet in the levels of Lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie in the last year. But still the disposition is to blame Chicago. Only now the point is that Chicago is not taking enough water from the lake.

Cannot something be done, run the plea to the government engineers, to induce Chicago to take a lot more water and thereby relieve the flood conditions? Sorry, say the government men, Chicago is restricted to a diversion of 1,500 cubic feet per second and is to be deprived of even that amount under the recent Supreme court decision.

Claimed Damages of Millions.

It was determined by the court that the diversion at Chicago had reduced lake levels to the extent of six inches. The Lake Carriers' association raised the wailing with lamentations over the resultant lessened draft of their ships which they calculated represented a loss of $3,500,000 a season in cargo capacity. Damage of even more millions was alleged by harbor interests, including some which are now complaining of high water.

It is beginning to dawn upon riparian owners that when the Chicago diversion is shut off the lake levels will be even six inches higher. What this will mean to them in high water periods they are finding it easy to visualize at this time by calculating how much more of their property would be submerged, were the lake waters six inches higher today.

Through cunningly devised propaganda blaming Chicago for the fall in lake levels, particularly between 1918 and 1926, the five billion dollar machine succeeded in inducing Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York to institute the injunction suit against Chicago and foot the bill, which totals $116,447 at this writing and is still mounting.

Steel Trust Confounded.

The rise of the lakes has most comprehensively confounded the steel trust and its allies which held Chicago responsible for the fall in the levels beginning in 1918 and ending in 1926. In that period the level of Lake Michigan fell four feet and nine inches. Since January, 1926, Lake Michigan has risen four feet and 11 inches and is now two inches higher than its highest water mark in the last forty years.

But the diversion at Chicago was not the only one responsible in part for the reduction of lake depths. As a result of the Welland canal diversion for navigation and power purposes and of permitted excavation of gravel in the St. Clair river, Canada was responsible for lowering Lake Huron and Huron more than four inches. But of this the lake states made no complaint, the Canadian diversion being for the benefit of the navigation and water power interests arrayed against Chicago.

Also responsible in part for the low water in Lake Michigan from 1929

1,700 CONVICTS
BATTLE GUARDS;
FIRE BUILDINGSFour Keepers Shot;
4 Felons Escape

Auburn, N. Y., July 28.—(AP)—Fifty long term convicts at Auburn state prison yesterday led a revolt of the 1,700 inmates, captured the prison arsenal with its stock of approximately fifty rifles and four machine guns, stormed the main gates, fired several prison shops, with an estimated loss of $500,000, and shot four guards, one seriously.

Two of the convicts were killed by the fire of the guards, and a third was seriously wounded. Four prisoners escaped in the first rush to the main gates of the penitentiary. The battle lasted for five hours.

Guards Beat Back Mob.

A mere handful of guards, two-thirds of the staff being off duty because it was Sunday, beat back the first attack of the rioters, then, reinforced by the remaining guards, hastily recalled, and by state troopers, they held a yelling, surging mob of convicts at bay until the outbreak spent its force and quiet was restored.

A checkup today by Warden Edgar S. Jennings showed that, with the exception of the slain convicts, one in a hospital, and the four who escaped, twenty inmates of the prison were in a cell, although the cells were crowded because of the damage to a cell block by fire.

While most of the rifles stolen from the prison arsenal had been recovered, three machine guns were missing.

Two Convicts Slain.

The two convicts slain by the guards were:

Joseph Cirigione, serving a term of seven and one-half years to fifteen years for arson.

George Wright, serving a term of 15 years for robbery.

The name of the wounded prisoner was not learned. The four convicts who escaped are: George Small, serving a term of 12 years for robbery; Joseph Caprio, 30 years old, 240 Melrose avenue, Kentworth, suffered severe burns on one hand. He clung to another craft in the harbor until rescued, as did Hugh B. G. White, 681 Lincoln avenue, Winnetka. Coyne's father, Thomas Coyne, senior partner in the investment firm of Alfred L. Baker & Co., 141 South La Salle street, paid $15,000 for the boat last August.

Young Coyne and White had spent several hours repairing the fuel tank from which 30 gallons of gasoline had leaked into the craft's shell. The job was finished and Coyne gave the engine a spin when the blast occurred.

Winnetka firemen extinguished the blaze on the craft, which was not insured.

MISSING 14 YEARS, ITALIAN VETERAN FINDS WIFE WED

PAVIA, Italy, July 28.—(U.P.)—Luigi Rossi, a mechanic, who was supposed to have given his life for Italy amid the fiercest fighting in the battle of Asiago highlands in 1915, returned to his birthplace today to find his wife married again and the mother of three children.

Sig. Rossi, upon his arrival, was received as one returned from the dead. He said that the Austrians had captured him in the battle 14 years ago and that he had been living in the wildest spot in Benares since the war.

He decided to permit his wife to decide what she is going to do about it.

Police Dog Attacks Boy; Wounds May Be Fatal

At the Michael Reese hospital it was said the wound might prove fatal. Police took the dog to be examined for rabies.

SPEED BOAT WITH 2 ABOARD BLOWS UP; ONE INJURED

The Indian Red, a 250 horse power speed boat, reputed to be one of the fastest on the lake, blew up in Wilmette harbor yesterday, hurling in the water two wealthy young men who had been repairing the gasoline tank.

Roswell Coyne, 20 years old, 240 Melrose avenue, Kentworth, suffered severe burns on one hand. He clung to another craft in the harbor until rescued, as did Hugh B. G. White, 681 Lincoln avenue, Winnetka. Coyne's father, Thomas Coyne, senior partner in the investment firm of Alfred L. Baker & Co., 141 South La Salle street, paid $15,000 for the boat last August.

Strike Closes 1,500 British Cotton Mills

MANCHESTER, England, July 28.—(AP)—Half a million cotton trade workers struck this morning, closing down 1,500 mills, when the employers refused to concede their intention of cutting wages 12 1/2 per cent.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, July 28.—At a late hour tonight, there was no change in the situation of the cotton industry. When all efforts failed Saturday to avert general stoppage, it was hoped that attempts might be made Sunday, to bring about a settlement, but neither operatives nor employers made any effort up to late tonight to reopen negotiations.

It is believed, however, that Prime Minister MacDonald will intervene in the dispute, which as a result of the present deadlock means that tomorrow 500,000 workers will be idle.

GANG HOLDS UP 15 AT INN; ROUTED BY COP IN GUN FIGHT

Six young robbers armed with shotguns and pistols early this morning held up the Sparrow inn at 13th street and Western avenue, just south of Blue Island, terrorized fifteen men and women patrons, and escaped after a gun battle with a motorcycle policeman.

The bandit gang drove up to the roadside in two automobiles. They lined the guests against a wall and took $600 in cash from them. John Sparrow, the proprietor, handed over the $80, and Joseph Starneski, 1146 S. Indiana avenue, was relieved of $250.

While some of the robbers were attending two of the women who had fainted, another patron slipped out and notified the Blue Island police.

Policeman Wilbur La More arrived alone just as the gang was departing and exchanged several shots with them, but was unable to prevent their escape.

29 POISONED BY PINEAPPLE CAKE; BAKERY CLOSED

Twenty-nine persons who partook of pineapple filled coffee cakes sold by a Lincoln avenue bakery were stricken with food poisoning yesterday, two seriously, Sheffield avenue police took the 29 cakes remaining from the daily batch of 500 and posted a guard to prevent the baker from opening his shop today.

Five of those stricken ate the cake at a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ellsbrock in Palestine, Ill. These five, including two daughters of the Ellsbrocks, their husbands, and the son of one, were treated at St. Joseph's hospital by Dr. William D. McNally, former corner's pathologist. Dr. McNally notified the Sheffield police, who began an investigation, resulting in discovery of four cakes which had been followed consumption of the cake.

Prompt treatment prevented serious consequences in the poison cases, attending doctors declared. One group of the afflicted included four middle aged sisters and brothers, the Misses Martha and Mary Gronke, 45 and 40 years old, and Gustav and Xavier Gronke, 46 and 41 years old, all of 5751 Harrison street.

Hart-Schaffner Factory Robbed of $20,000 Coats

Four robbers broke into the branch factory of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, clothing manufacturers, at 4528 West 32d street, early this morning and escaped with overcoats valued at $20,000.

The men gained entrance by smashing a rear window and overpowering the watchman, Samuel Karwinski, 2848 Fulton street. They then loaded 200 overcoats on a truck and drove away.

FRENCH O. K. ON DEBT AIDS DRIVE FOR U. S. TAX CUT

Would Use Foreign Payments as Basis.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Proposals for a tax reduction based on foreign debt payments may find new support in congress as a result of approval of the French funding agreement.

Ratification of the Mellon-Berenger agreement by the French parliament and assurance of similar action by congress will furnish those favoring the use of foreign funds for easing domestic tax burdens a definite basis on which to renew their demands.

May Retire Debt in 15 Years.

With virtually all the foreign debt now funded, the retirement of the entire gross public debt of a little less than $17,000,000,000 is apparently made certain within a period of the next 15 years. This is on the theory that all of the money received from foreign governments, including both principal and interest, together with the statutory sinking fund, is used for debt retirement.

It does not take into account the probable use of annual surpluses from current funds for the same purpose. Approximately five billion 100 million dollars will be paid from foreign governments in principal and interest during the next 15 years. The sinking fund during the same period will total more than 10 billion dollars. The two together will wipe out the public debt. In the 40 years succeeding the 15 year period the foreign debtors are scheduled to pay to this government a little more than 15 billion dollars. One of the foreign payments for debt retirement would tend to extend the period for the retirement of the public debt over a greater part of the 40 year period for which the foreign debt is funded.

Payments Will Increase.

The annual French debt payments at first will amount to about $85,000,000. In 1932 they will total $100,000,000, in 1937 they will reach $150,000,000, and in 1942 climb to $125,000,000. The yearly British payments already are in excess of $150,000,000 and will reach $185,000,000 within the next seven years.

Actual foreign debt payments in the fiscal year which closed on June 30 were nearly $80 million dollars. Of this, $35,750,000 was in payment of principal, while $150,000,000 was in interest. The foreign governments paid about 175 millions of the total in American government securities which were immediately canceled by the treasury, this amount thus automatically going toward debt retirement. The $25,000,000 which was paid in cash helped to make up the 185 million dollar surplus, representing the difference between current expenses and current receipts. The greater part of this surplus was used toward retirement of short term securities.

200 Millions in 1925.

The foreign debt payments will steadily increase under the terms of the funding agreements, amounting to $90 million dollars in 1925, to $95 million in 1930, and to $100 million in 1935. In the fiscal year 1937, the end of the eighteen year period in which the public debt can be retired by use of the foreign debt payments and the sinking fund, the total received from foreign governments will be $352,525,000. About thirty-five years later the total gets above the 400 million dollar mark.

Taxes might be reduced by as much as 500 million dollars at once if congress were to approve the proposal today made that Henry Ford is planning to build a new automobile factory on the Dalmatian coast in the near future.

Tries to Hold Up Detective; Chicagoan Lands in Jail

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—Louis Allen, 23, drifted into New York from Chicago four days ago. With him was his young wife. Their funds began to get low. Armed with a revolver, he went out Saturday night, looking for prospects. He spotted a prosperous looking man in a car. "Stick 'em up!" Louis said. His would-be victim overpowered Allen and drove him to the police station, where Allen learned for the first time he had tackled Detective John Moran.

RECORD CROWDS SWARM BEACHES AS HEAT BREAKS

Three Chicagoans Drown; Guards Rescue 13.

Records for beach attendance were shattered yesterday when, after a sultry night, crowds estimated at 350,000 persons flocked along the lake shore. Gentle winds from offshore accompanied what the predicted thunder showers failed to do, and the temperature was moderate, despite the blazing sun. Thunder clouds gathered for a brief period about noon, but dispersed and dispersed rain elsewhere.

Falls 11 Degrees in Hour.

The temperature attained its maximum of 86 degrees at 11 o'clock, but a fall of 11 degrees occurred within the next hour as the lake breeze arose. Gentle northwesterly winds will hold the mercury to a comfortable level today, according to the weather forecast, J. R. Lloyd.

While Mrs. Quince kept their safety record unmarred at the municipal beaches, affecting thirteen rescues from drowning, three Chicagoans met death at unguarded lakes and swimming pools outside the city.

Richard Hoffman, 31 years old, 374 South Hermitage avenue, who spent the day at Twin Lakes, 25 miles west of Evanston, Wis., was drowned late in the afternoon in seven feet of water. He was an automobile salesman and unmarried.

John Matheny, 35 years old, 5708 Lowe avenue, who went to Elgin for a family reunion, dived in for a swim in Poplar creek, struck his head on a submerged pipe laid by a gravel company, and broke his neck. He drowned before his relatives brought him to the surface.

Jerry Bala, 31 years old, a chauffeur, whose car struck the Des Plaines village police were seeking to arrest, drowned in the Des Plaines river above dam No. 1, near Wheeling, Ill. His body, recovered after a six hour search, was taken to the Oshkosh undertaking rooms in Des Plaines.

The single death attributed to heat prostration was that of Morris Spiegel, 61 years old, a commercial artist, 223 West Adams street. While participating in athletic sports at Pottawatomie park near St. Charles, Ill., he collapsed and died of heart disease, aggravated by the heat and violent exercise.

Youth Dies in Pool.

The only other death reported was that of Douglas Kimbrough, 20 years old, 4375 Emerald avenue, who dived into a quarry pool at Lemont, Ill., and failed to come up. No water was found in his lungs when the body was recovered, leading the highway police to assume he died of heart failure.

Twelve rescues were made at the Jackson park beach, where an estimated 50,000 of all ages milled about on the sands. The greatest single throng gathered at Clarendon beach, where the 5,000 lockers were inadequate for the estimated 100,000 men, women, and children. Long lines of people stood for hours awaiting a chance to change from street clothing to bathing suits.

4 Drown Near Sturgeon Bay; Man Gives Life

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., July 28.—[Special.]—Four persons, three girls and a man, were drowned today while in bathing in the bay three miles north of this city. The victims were Anna Maas, 19; Carol Smith and Mildred Smith, 15, sisters, all of Kaukauna, Wis., and William Washholz, 24, of Brussels, this country. The drowned girls were with Mr. and Mrs. Rosemary and family, who had driven here to spend the day. The three girls rushed into the water and stepped into a deep hole and sank. Washholz rushed to their rescue and stepped into the hole when one of the girls grabbed him.

BRIAND PREDICTS FEW CHANGES IN FRENCH CABINET

New Premier's Choice Ready Today.

BY HENRY WALLER.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, July 28.—The composition of M. Briand's new cabinet is only partially changed from the personnel of Premier Poincaré's government, the minister of foreign affairs, who is now in power with his colleagues, said today.

M. Briand has offered two cabinet places, without portfolios, to the Radical Socialist party in return for their support of the coalition government, according to the most reliable sources tonight. The ministers will be: Edouard Herriot, mayor of Lyons and former minister of education in the Poincaré cabinet; and Edouard Daudet, president of the same party. The radical socialists are said to be split tonight on the question as to whether to accept the offer, some insisting that cabinet members should be given active portfolios.

After Parliamentary Majority. M. Briand's movement is for the purpose of keeping the old cabinet intact, yet gain the adherence of the big radical socialist group and thereby increase his parliamentary majority. A similar emergency measure was adopted during the war when all former Frenchmen were included in the cabinet without portfolios. The present coalition constitutes an emergency in view of France's interest in the international conference.

André Tardieu, minister of the interior, and M. Louis Loucheur, minister of labor, joined with M. Briand this afternoon, and Louis Marly, radical socialist leader, called at the Quai d'Orsay after lunch.

M. Briand reported that M. Maginot, army war minister during the Ruhr occupation, will get a portfolio in the new cabinet. President Doumergue will recall parliament on Thursday or Friday, as soon as M. Briand forms a government, which it is expected will be tomorrow.

Speeches on Poincaré Wednesday. (Copyright: 1920 by the New York Times.)

PARIS, July 28.—M. Poincaré, former premier, continues under the close care of physicians and specialists at his Paris home, who are expected to operate upon the French statesman, said Wednesday. When the former premier recovers there will be a long rest at his country home. Physicians hope M. Poincaré will abstain from active politics for at least a year.

HEAT EXHAUSTS 35 MEN DURING LEGION PARADE

Deaths, Ill., July 28.—[Special.]—Thirty-five men were victims of sunstroke and heat exhaustion in the streets when Legionnaires paraded two miles while the mercury stood at 86 degrees.

Two were taken to the hospital, where six remain in a serious condition. Others were cared for on the grounds by nurses, physicians, and Boy Scouts in an emergency unit.

The parade was part of the program of the one day division meeting of the American Legion held in Decatur. The march in a serious condition are Eugene Martin, Peoria, critical; Robert Watkins, Peoria; Paul Miller, Smith, Clinton; Newell Brannen, Jack Atkins, and Charles Decker, Decatur. The heat established a 1920 record here.

U. S. MAY LIBEL MASSEE'S YACHT BY LIQUOR LAW

Lessee Had Quarrel with Crewsman.

Detroit, Mich., July 28.—[Special.]—A discharged member of the crew of the Margo, thought to have furnished the information upon which the $500,000 libel suit was set by customs officials yesterday.

The customs authorities refuse to give out any information, but it is reported $10,000 worth of liquor was discovered aboard.

The Margo may be libeled and seized by the federal government. It is the property of Burt Massee of Chicago, vice president of the Colgate-Palmolive Petroleum Corporation.

Leased to Detroit Man.
The vessel, just finished in Boston and newly commissioned, was leased by Mr. Massee to Louis Mendelshon, a Detroit capitalist. The Margo is a 144 foot Diesel powered craft, with a 25 foot beam and two 450 h. p. Diesel engines. She is manned by a crew of 22.

The Margo was about to start for Chicago. Mr. Mendelshon had invited fifteen guests to make the voyage. Some of them were on board the vessel when it was anchored off the Detroit Yacht club.

When the two border patrolmen first came alongside the Margo it was thought that clearance papers were being delivered. But when one man was left on board as guard while the other sped off down river in a speed boat, the curiosity of observers from the club dock was aroused.

Guests Are Released.
Later two more customs agents and a man not in uniform boarded the Margo, while a third official stood by a speed boat in which the quartet had arrived. Soon after this a boat from one of the Detroit river riveries came up, took off three men and two women with their luggage, and sped ashore. They were guests being released. Mr. Mendelshon was not aboard.

Four members of the crew, headed by Capt. P. F. Stokes, were taken to the customs border patrol base at the foot of Orleans street. Later they were released. Charges may be made later. The liquor was taken from the Margo and placed in a federal vault. An official report on the matter is to be made tomorrow.

It is rumored that since the Margo left Boston, where her crew had returned, Mr. Mendelshon had some difficulty with members of the crew. Some of the men were discharged Friday and it is thought that possibly with a motive of revenge these men had reported to the authorities that liquor was on board.

British Vessel Is Held.
Fernandino, Fla., July 28.—[AP.]—A British rum boat lay in Fernandino harbor tonight, its liquor cargo intact and its crew aboard, while coast guard officers kept silence as to disposition of the craft. The vessel is under guard.

The 78 foot boat, the Betty and Mitty, with a cargo of 2,500 cases of liquor, was captured within the 12 mile limit by coast guard boat 117.

Aviation Notes

The Boeing system will open a school of aeronautics at the Oakland, Cal., airport in September, officials of the company announced yesterday. Three college graduates, experienced in military and commercial aviation, will head the school's teaching staff. Advanced courses as well as regular instruction will be offered, according to the school's prospectus.

A flight to Europe by way of Greenland and Iceland is planned for early fall by Arthur Von Briesen Menken, young New York sportsman and aviation enthusiast. Menken plans an aerial tour of Europe and Africa after the transatlantic flight.

Capt. Harry Jones of Old Orchard, Me., has carried more than 25,000 passengers in his 20 years of flying without an accident. He has flown for the last four years without a forced landing.

The Curtiss Flying service will formally dedicate its "downtown airport" at Wacker drive and Dearborn street tomorrow night.

Roger Q. Williams and Lewis Yancey, who recently flew across the Atlantic to Rome in the plane the Pathfinder, will be feted by the Press club next Sunday on their arrival in Chicago. An escort of 45 army, navy and private planes will meet the flyers in the outskirts of the Chicago area, and will stage an aerial parade over the loop before accompanying the transatlantic plane to Sky Harbor, where a reception will be held. Williams and Yancey will be guests of honor at luncheon at the Press club, and later at a banquet in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house. The Italian consul general, M. Casarucio, has reserved 200 places at the banquet for Chicagoans of Italian descent. Prominent figures in the world of aeronautics will be guests at the banquet, among them Lieut. Leigh Wade and Lieut. John Harding, members of the U. S. army round-the-world flight; William S. Brock, of New York to Japan fame, and Giuseppe Bellanca, builder of the Pathfinder.

WILLIAMS AND YANCEY RETURN TO NEW YORK

New York, July 28.—[AP.]—Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, transatlantic flyers, came home today. With them on the liner Republic was the Pathfinder, the airplane in which they set out on July 8 from Old Orchard, Me.

The flyers were taken from the Republic by the municipal tug Macom. There was no swirl of ticker tape as their motorcycle escort led them up through the deserted financial district, but nearer midtown a Sunday crowd greeted them enthusiastically.

After attending high mass at St. Patrick's cathedral they were taken to a roof garden for lunch and then went to their hotel rooms, where they received the congratulations of close friends.

Among the first to greet them as the Macom met their ship were their wives and Giuseppe Bellanca, manufacturer of their plane, and Roy Macfadyen, aviation enthusiast who formerly owned the Pathfinder.

Tomorrow the flyers will be presented to Mayor Walker at City hall. Later in the week they expect to go to Boston to be greeted by the mayor of that city and the governor of Massachusetts. Tentative plans also call for a visit soon to Chicago, where Yancey's mother lives.

'UNTIN' BOWLER'S CREW BEGIN LONG TRAIL TO CHICAGO

Take Ship to Hudson Bay
Port 1,000 Miles Away.

BY ROBERT WOOD.
(Special Tribune Press Service.)
PORT BURWELL, Ungava, July 28.—The crew of the lost 'Untin' Bowler will sail from here at midnight aboard the Canadian government steamer Acadia on their return trip to Chicago. The boat will make one stop at Nottingham Island, on Hudson strait, 400 miles from here, and proceed from there to Fort Churchill, on the western shore of Hudson bay, a journey of 1,000 miles. They will then still be 500 miles from Chicago.

The 'Untin' Bowler, with Pilots Bob Goss and Parker Cramer and the writer aboard landed here July 10 to refuel for the hop to Mount Evans, Greenland, on the attempted flight of the Bowler to Berlin. The plane sank during a storm in Hudson strait two weeks ago and ever since we have been waiting for transportation back to Chicago.

Four Ships Big Event.
The Acadia was the last of four ships to arrive here. The fleet of Hudson's Bay company boats have been pushing slowly for days through the fog and ice on the Atlantic coast of Labrador. The Hudson's Bay supply boat Ungava was held by ice 12 miles from Port Burwell harbor for two days, but pushed through late last night. The Nasopica, a sister ship, the Sambro, a government vessel, and the Acadia followed. The arrival of the boats is the biggest event of the year for the little colony of white men here.

Take Off Sick Officer.
The Acadia brought a year's supply of food and the first mail since last August. The Sambro brought a cook, who will take over the duties we have performed for the radio operators during our stay here. We are taking with us Ernest Axzell, officer in charge of the station, who has been seriously ill for the last three months without medical attention.

FIRST AIR MAIL FROM CHILE DUE AT MIAMI TODAY

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—Coming over the longest air mail route in the world, the first air mail from Chile is scheduled to arrive at Miami tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The mail left Santiago, Chile, at 8 a. m. Sunday a week ago, and when it landed at the Pan-American Airways airport at Miami it will have covered 5,750 miles crossing twelve countries in South and Central America. The arrival of the mail also marks the completion of the first million miles of scheduled flying by the Pan-American system.

In addition to 10,000 pieces of special and regular mail from Santiago, the cargo includes, according to cable reports here, about 23,000 letters and cards which were picked up en route at Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, Panama, Canal Zone, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, British Honduras, Mexico, and Cuba.

WRECKS PLANE IN ATTEMPT TO HOP FOR TOKIO

Bromley Uninjured in Crash on Runway.

Tacoma Field, Tacoma, Wash., July 28.—[AP.]—Turning over on its right wing 150 feet down the runway, the monoplane City of Tacoma crashed here today when Lieut. Harold Bromley started on his scheduled nonstop flight to Tokio. Bromley was not hurt.

The plane started at 6:54, Pacific standard time. It had just struck the rough ground below an especially built ramp to facilitate a takeoff when it turned over. Some difficulty was experienced in taking Bromley out of the cockpit. The plane when loaded weighed 8,500 pounds.

Crowd Swarms Onto Field.
After the accident a crowd of 10,000 people broke through a barbed wire fence and swarmed on the field. The plane did not catch fire, but firemen stood guard around it.

Lieut. Bromley, who was rushed to a hospital for examination for possible injury, heaped blame for the accident upon himself.

"I should have known enough to cut out the motor at the bottom of the ramp when the gas first sprayed back from the fuselage tanks," he asserted.

Another Attempt Promised.
Bromley later announced that he will try again as soon as he can get a new plane or have the old one rebuilt. His statement was corroborated by the committee backing the flight.

"The finances are guaranteed for a second attempt of the City of Tacoma," said John Buffelen, chairman of the committee. "We are already in communication with the Lockheed plant, builders of the plane."

RAIDERS READY IF DOG TRACK TRIES TO OPEN

Now Legal Fight to Begin Today.

If an effort should be made tonight to reopen the Fairview dog room, Frank Roche of the state's attorney's office will be on hand with Lieut. William V. Blaul and a squad of detectives to stage a new raid and again close the place, despite any pending court procedure. Roche made this plain last night.

Officials of the track have declared they will defy the state's attorney's office and reopen.

Attorney Lewis Jacobson, counsel for the operators of the Hawthorne dog track, announced that a conference will be held in his office this morning with a view of planning a new legal campaign designed to thwart Roche's Attorney Swanson's determination to keep that track closed. A series of raids, of which the last was on July 25, resulted in the closing of that track.

Predicts Racing Again.

"I predict we'll reopen Hawthorne within a few days, but just when has not as yet been determined," said Jacobson.

Mr. Jacobson said another thing to be talked over today will be the contemplated filing of a $500,000 damage suit against Roche in behalf of the Hawthorne management. He said Roche had libeled the track by his public assertions that Hawthorne is controlled by Al Capone, Chicago gangster, and that the greyhound racers contemplate seeking reprisal against the Arlington horse race track on the grounds of discrimination.

Jacobson denied that Capone, "or any other gangster," had any interest in the Hawthorne enterprise. He said the track is headed by Edward J. O'Hare of St. Louis, a business man who owns other dog tracks about the country, and that the vice president and treasurer is Harold Wilder of Madison, Ill., head of the Illinois Terminal company, a downstate railway.

Wants New Court Order.

"And I intend to go tomorrow before some Circuit court judge with a motion to expunge Judge Rush's order, which in effect declares operation of dog tracks to be illegal," said Jacobson last night. "I will also ask for a new temporary injunction to protect Hawthorne and file a new contempt proceeding against State's Attorney Swanson and his aides."

W. O. Saunders, Elizabeth City (N. C.) newspaper publisher, clad as he was when arrested in streets of his home city. He was immediately discharged by the judge before whom he was arraigned. He is trying to make America "pajama conscious" during hot weather. (Pacific and Atlantic Photo.)

proceeding against State's Attorney Swanson and his aides." Jacobson's proposed new activities followed a report on Saturday from Master in Chancery Max M. Korshak, who has been taking evidence in the dog track controversy upon orders of Judge Harry M. Fisher. Master Korshak decided that operation of the tracks is legal. His report is to be perused and passed upon on Aug. 5 by Judge Fisher when that jurist resumes the bench after his vacation.

nal complex asserted itself in the minds of the remainder. They were well armed and in a position to wipe out the guards, they thought, so they returned to the prison yard to organize their forces and effect a general delivery of the prisoners.

The guards seized their opportunity. The gates were slammed shut and the emergency bolts shot. Extra guards sprang to their posts and the convicts found themselves penned in the prison yard with doubled guards rapidly filling the walls.

The defeated hope for liberty turned to a mad desire to riot. Buildings were fired and the convicts sought to go over the walls in the dense smoke which issued from the burning buildings. Spirited gun fire, however, turned them back and they raged through the yard, smashing everything on which they could lay hands.

Siren Summons Help.

Meanwhile, the prison siren wailed forth its note of warning, a message which was relayed quickly to the barracks of the state troopers at Onondaga and Pulaski, from whence at least 50 troopers were rushed to the prison to reinforce the guards. All local police were hurried to the gates to stand guard outside in case the convicts effected an escape.

A fire alarm was turned in and fire apparatus was dispatched from Syracuse to aid the local department in extinguishing the blazing buildings in the prison yard. Finding it difficult to reach the fires with streams of water thrown over the walls, a local fire engine rammed the high stone wall of the prison in an attempt to break a way through to the blaze. It failed and was ignited in the attempt, burning just outside the wall.

Turn Out National Guard.
As fast as hose lines were strung through the streets, confederates and sympathizers of the convicts cut them in several places, rendering them useless. The local unit of the New York national guard was turned out and joined with the local police in patrolling the streets.

Shortly before 9 p. m., a group of the convicts sauntered over to their cells. Of those who remained in the yard, about half attempted to assume a nonchalant attitude. Some even resumed their checker games, a suggestion to the watchful guards that the riot had not been of their making. There remained, however, several hundred dangerous armed convicts, and it was some time before troopers and guards succeeded in forcing these back into the cell block. There they could be placed under close guard, while the prison guards turned their attention to the smaller, but more dangerously armed, group of ring leaders which had taken the three stolen machine guns into the clothing shop with them.

Flares were sent up from the walls and searchlights were trained on the prison yard from the guards' houses on the walls. By these lights, the guards, reinforced by state troopers, drew back and gathered their breath for the final rush which would end the riot and restore order of a sort, at least, to the partially ruined prison.

Burn Bertillon Records.

Among the prison buildings fired by the rioters were the Bertillon plant, with all the records, fingerprints and photos of the prisoners; the furniture plant, auto-plate shop and the prison kitchen.

Power and electric light lines and gas pipes leading into the prison were cut, but emergency lines were strung to the walls by the local power company to provide illumination for the guards.

At the adjoining state prison for women there were scenes of wild confusion for a time, and it was feared the inmates might attempt to escape.

but officials of the prison reported they had the situation under control.

Governor Promises Help.

Plattsburgh, N. Y., July 28.—(AP)—Gov. Roosevelt, on learning tonight of the outbreak of prisoners at Auburn, immediately ordered the state troopers' headquarters in Albany to dispatch all available additional troopers in the district to the institution to help in quelling the rioters.

The mayor of Auburn was notified by the governor that if the situation should show signs of getting further out of hand, he would order additional aid on receiving notice to that effect.

Prisoners Are Overcrowded.

Albany, N. Y., July 28.—(AP)—The riot of prisoners at Auburn comes six days after the failure of an uprising at Clinton prison, Dannemora, and before prison authorities and Governor Roosevelt have had a chance to make a thorough investigation of the Dannemora episode.

Reports issued by the department of correction during the past year have shown that all prisons in the state were overcrowded and Auburn was not an exception.

The department, at the time of the Dannemora outbreak, revealed that the overflowing population of the prison necessitated doubling up in cells in some instances and the use of the corridors in cell blocks for sleeping places. It was said, unofficially here today that similar conditions are necessary at Auburn.

Called "Wall-less Prison."

Auburn was once known as the "wall-less prison," and to it are sent most of the state's women prisoners, some life termers and many lawbreakers tried upstate and convicted of crimes carrying sentences of from five to fifteen years.

Today's riot came at a time when virtually every official connected with the state department of correction here was absent over the week-end.

7 Five House of Refuge.

New York, July 28.—(AP)—A keeper at the house of refuge on Randall's island tonight was arrested charged with arson in connection with two fires at the institution today.

Some time after the fires were extinguished authorities at the house of refuge, a detention institution for boys under 21, discovered that seven prisoners had escaped. They believed there was no connection between the fires and the escape. The keeper, John K. Robinson, was said by police to have confessed setting the two fires today as well as three others earlier in the month.

BOLT KILLS 5 IN CUBA.

HAVANA, Cuba, July 28.—(AP)—Special dispatches today said a mother and four children were killed last night by lightning at Pinar. There was severe electric and rain storms over southwestern Cuba last night.

EASTERN EUROPE STEPS TO TEMPO OF MODERN JAZZ

Tribune Reporter Takes Bird's-Eye View.

BY LARRY RUE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, July 22.—Over the mountain ranges of eastern Europe and around prohibited areas in the Balkans this Tribune plane reached Constantinople yesterday morning on scheduled time. The weather was excellent and landings were made at Belgrade in Jugoslavia and at Sofia in Bulgaria. The 900 mile trip was made in ten hours.

The entire trip was without mishap except between Belgrade and Sofia, when the trapdoor of the aerial coup became loose. My companion, Dr. Edwin Lyon, former fellow at Columbia university, struggled with the door for a couple of minutes before he was able to pull it into the cowl of the plane and return it to its place. There was danger for the tail controls had the door got away.

Ordinary maps on a scale of 1 to 50,000 were used during the flight, and at no time did I have trouble finding the way.

Flying Fields Plentiful. There has been such progress in aviation in Europe in the last four years that the trip itself presented no inconveniences, as Belgrade, Sofia and Constantinople all have excellent equipped landing fields.

The transformation of these countries is obvious to the casual visitor. Belgrade and Sofia have new buildings erected on modern lines, and even the people are stepping up into the new tempo of the airplane and jazz age.

Turks Almond Yell.

While in the buildings of Constantinople there is not so obvious a change, the transformation of Turkey into a European nation strikes one from the start. En route from the flying field we passed the famed, Moslem cemeteries where veiled women for centuries have wept over the graves. Women were there by the thousands, but they were unveiled, and the younger women were attired in dresses standardized by the Parisian couturier.

Amusement, too, is standardized, and jazz bands are playing to the stepping feet of Turkish flappers and Lotharios.

BUTCHERS ROBBED OF $200. George Kamp, 4542 North Drake avenue, a butcher, was robbed of $200 and $125 in checks Saturday night by three armed men in an automobile who forced him to drive to the curb in his car in front of his home.

FRENCH FLYER DENIES BREACH WITH U. S. BRIDE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, July 22.—Jean Assolant, who with René Lefèvre, Armeno Lotti, and a stowaway crossed from America to Spain and thence to Paris recently, today objected to rumors of his separation from his American chorus girl wife, Miss Pauline Parker, as pure imagination.

Nevertheless the afternoon papers considered the story sufficiently important to print alongside M. Assolant's denial a story saying the rupture of the ménage was due "to the differences in education, language, and traditions which the young couple found an obstacle they could not surmount."

The accounts added that M. Lotti and Lefèvre, Assolant's flying companions, broke the news to his wife and that she, after a brief fit of tears, then turned to discussing details of separation.

NATURE PLAYS IRONIC JOKE ON FOES OF SEAWAY

Lakes Overflow as They Open Diversion Drive.

In 1923 was the control of the outflow from Lake Superior by means of the gates of Sault Ste. Marie. As the lakes began to fall the gates were closed and the water of Lake Superior conserved. The maximum effect of this control was attained in 1923 and 1924, when the levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron were reduced 4 1/2 inches and Erie and Ontario three inches as a result of holding back Lake Superior water.

But there was no outcry by the steel trust, the shipping and water power interests over this cause of the shallowing of lake harbors, although it was nearly equal to that for which Chicago was blamed. The reason was that the control of Lake Superior was instituted for the benefit of the navigation and water power interests which were fighting Chicago.

Nature Really to Blame.
Thus it fell out that while the five billion dollar combine was complaining that Chicago had lowered the lakes six inches, the Canadian diversions and the Lake Superior control together accounted for a reduction of more than eight inches in lake harbor and channel depths.

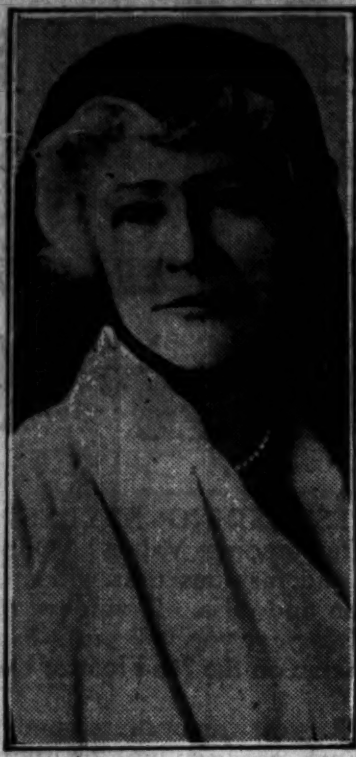

The major cause, however, of the shallowing of harbors and channels was the diminution of the rainfall in the great lakes basin.

Inasmuch as the reduction in lake levels for which Chicago and Canada were responsible had been effected before the lakes began to fall, it follows that lack of precipitation accounted for all of the fall except the 4 1/2 inches in Lakes Michigan and Huron and 3 inches in Erie and Ontario chargeable to the withholding of Lake Superior water.

Diminished rainfall, therefore, was responsible for the shallowing of harbors and navigation channels to the extent of nearly three and one-half feet between 1915 and 1924.

These fluctuations in the levels of the lakes due to the amount of rainfall have been observed and recorded by the government since 1860. They are shown to occur in cycles of eight to nineteen years. The rise of the lakes since January, 1926, is due to the increased precipitation of recent years.

There is prospect of even higher water next year. That the lower lakes are affected materially by the control of the flow from Lake Superior is admitted by the Lake Carriers' association. One of its officials told me that the high water in Lakes Michigan, Huron, Erie and Ontario today is largely due to the fact that the gates at the Soo have been open since last August.

Lake Superior had become higher than was desired, so the gates were opened and the flood released. Since the release of Superior waters, Lakes Michigan and Huron have risen one and a half feet, Erie two feet, four inches, and Ontario two feet, seven inches.

According to the records at the office of the Lake Carriers' association, Lakes Michigan and Huron reached their lowest level in June, 1926, when they stood at 578.33 feet above sea level. In June, 1929, the level was 582.23, a rise of nearly four feet. In 1926, on account of the shallowing depth in the harbors and channels, the association was compelled to reduce the draft of its ships to eighteen feet, three inches.

Ship Draft Increased.

This year the draft has been increased to twenty feet, nine inches, only three inches less than the greatest draft ever employed, which was 21 feet between 1916 and 1920.

The Lake Carriers' association is now exerting its influence with the war department and in congress for the adoption of a vast program of general deepening of the channels connecting the lakes. The ship owners are asking the federal government to expend $28,000,000 in deepening the channels three feet. That would enable the carriers to load their vessels three feet deeper and to increase their earnings $18,000,000 a year.

The deepening of the channels three feet will lower lake levels almost as much as the Chicago diversion, if not more, unless the excavated material is deposited in such manner as to avoid enlargement of the discharge openings of the lakes.

Worth $300,000 Per Inch.

The carriers calculate that every inch of draft is worth $300,000 in freight earnings. If they are able to load their ships an inch deeper their earnings go up $300,000. It is this calculation that produced the estimate that the six inch reduction of lake levels by the Chicago diversion cost the carriers $1,800,000 a year.

Even that estimate, however, holds only when the lakes periodically are at their lowest ebb.

That the five billion dollar combine is less interested in restoring lake levels than in stopping the abstraction of water from the lakes at Chicago is evidenced by the attitude of the complainants as to the compensating and regulating works Chicago stands ready to construct in the St. Clair and Niagara rivers to offset the effect of the Chicago diversion.

The complainants, however, are unwilling to agree to the installation of remedial works as a condition of continued diversion of lake water at Chicago. What they demand is the cessation of diversion at Chicago, which would raise the lake levels six inches.

HOOVER ENDS OUTING, REMAINS SILENT AS TO ARMY REORGANIZATION

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 28.—(Special.)—President Hoover returned tonight from his camp on the Rapidan river in Virginia. Accompanying him were Secretary of War Good, Assistant Secretaries of War Hurley and Davidson, General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, and others with whom he discussed army reorganization.

No announcement was made relative to the possibility of reducing expenditures by the elimination of obsolete services in the army or spreading various programs over more years. The personnel of the army commission which is to investigate the subject has not been decided upon and, it was indicated, probably will not be announced for a week or ten days.

REBEL CHIEF RIDES TO DEATH AFTER MEN SURRENDER

SAN LUIS, Mexico, July 28.—(AP)—Past enemies were forgotten here when Gen. Saturno Cedillo, whose forces crushed the rebel army of Gen. Enrique Gorostieta, entertained Gorostieta's staff officers at a banquet.

Instead of ordering execution of the rebel officers, Gen. Cedillo pardoned them and granted them safe conduct to their homes. Rather than avail themselves of the privilege, they followed Cedillo to this city so as to reside in the state of which he is governor.

Gen. Gorostieta, commander-in-chief of the Cristero armies, met a spectacular end. Cornered with his staff officers and a few men, he counseled them to surrender but himself rode straight at the federal troops, blazing away with a pistol in each hand. He was killed.

POLICEMAN SHOT IN CICERO JULY 10 DIES OF WOUNDS

Policeman John Nead of the Cicero police department died yesterday of gun shot wounds he received on July 10 when he sought to arrest two gunmen. The policeman, called one of the department's most efficient men by his superiors, was 41 years old, married, and lived at 5403 West 28th street, Cicero.

Policeman Nead was driving his car when he noticed two men walk out of an alley at the rear of 5100 West 28th street. One of them carried a bundle and Nead decided to question them. The men fired as he walked toward them. Nead fell with three bullets in his body.

His assailants are believed to have been three robbers who held up the Altman Shoe store at 4111 Madison street, obtaining $175 a short time before they encountered the policeman.

KILLED IN POOL DIVE.

Canton, Ill., July 28.—(Special.)—James Plummer, 51 years old, Macomb, Ill., was killed today. His neck was broken and his skull fractured, in a 15 foot dive at a swimming pool.

CANTON LOYAL TO NANKING; GETS HEAVY SUBSIDIES

Nationalist Leader Pays for Troops.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
CANTON, July 28.—The Canton area, including the governments of the city and of the two provinces of Kwangsi and Kwangtung, is for the moment in accord with Nanking. This is due to the fact that the Nationalist central government has granted the controllers of the two Kwangs a virtual autonomy in local affairs, supplemented by substantial subsidies, popularly described as for the maintenance of troops.

The fact remains that except through the payment of subsidies Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Nationalist party and the Nanking government, controls absolutely only the five provinces in the Shanghai area, now being Fukien, Chekiang, Kiangsu, Kiangsi, and Anhwei. This vast and densely populated area is fairly well defensible as a unit. The areas confronting it, Kwangsi and Kwangtung on the south, Hunan and Hupeh on the west, and Honan and Shantung on the north, also are naturally defined military areas.

Makes Protection Move.
In order to insure protection Chiang Kai-shek has made new terms and heavy payments to the controllers of the Kwang provinces.

At a meeting held in Nanking of the central executive committee of the Nationalist party the proposition of Chiang Kai-shek was unanimously agreed to. That was the creation in Canton of what translates literally as the instructive politics council, to be in control of Kwangtung and Kwangsi. Stripped of the camouflage, this is the political autonomy committee for the two southern provinces. The chairman is Kuo Yin-fun and the others of the committee are selected from high officials of the two provinces.

China Repeats Peace Desire.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
SHANGHAI, July 28.—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek called an extraordinary meeting last night of the Nanking government leaders regarding the Chinese-Russian situation. It began at 8 p. m., ending at midnight, but no announcement was made except reiteration of China's willingness to enter into peaceful negotiations, with emphasis on China's preparedness in the event of Russian invasion.

Following the meeting, the central executive committee of the Kuomintang, Nationalist government party, issued a lengthy statement reviewing the history of Chinese-soviet relations from the beginning of the Nationalist revolution until the present, maintaining that Chinese relations with the soviet government were always friendly, but then listed the communistic outrages in Canton and Hankow of 1927 and the continued subversive activities culminating in the soviet propaganda of Harbin and in connection with the Chinese Eastern railway, as indicating soviet treachery.

It concludes: "The Chinese government intends to abide by the Kellogg pact, but China is ready in the event of soviet hostilities."

Aside from alleged anti-Chinese demonstrations in outer Mongolia, no reports have been received of activities on the Chinese-Russian frontier. Chu Shao-yang, Chinese government appointee to conduct soviet negotiations, arrived in Peking en route to Harbin.

Harbin Conditions Normal.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HARBIN, Manchuria, July 28.—Conditions remain normal here. The Chinese Eastern railway is operating as usual, with soviet minor officials and the laborer class working, wearing the cycle and hammer emblem on their cap visors. Chinese officials as well as the local Russian population profess ignorance regarding the opening of negotiations for the purpose of settling the deadlock.

It is reported that Mukden is sending fifty airplanes here of the French "Rotax" class, which were recently purchased. Gen. Chang Tso-Hsiang is arriving here from Mukden tomorrow and assuming command.

CUNEO IGNORES ZONING APPEAL; CONTINUES WORK

Lawyer Contends Board Lacks Jurisdiction.

BY CARL WARREN.
Despite legal attacks and the protests of aldermen, architectural experts, and civic organizations, John F. Cuneo intends to proceed with the construction of his proposed sixty-story skyscraper at Michigan avenue and Randolph street. Mr. Cuneo's attorney, John F. Campbell, made the statement yesterday.

Mr. Campbell announced that his client will ignore the appeal taken to the city zoning board Saturday by H. C. Edmunds and the Michigan-Lake Building Corporation on the ground that the board is "utterly without jurisdiction." He said that workmen will continue to demolish walls in the basement of the structure on the Cuneo site to make way for caissons of the new tower.

May Start Work.
The Campbell statement, however, was at variance with that of Deputy Building Commissioner Robert Knight, who said work probably will have to be stopped until the appeal is disposed of.

"The building commissioner's office has received a letter from the zoning board notifying us of the appeal and I presume Mr. Cuneo has received the same notice," Mr. Knight explained. "As I understand it, an appeal temporarily stops all proceedings and this would automatically hold up work on the building pending a decision from the board."

Whether steps will be taken to halt the custom work probably will be decided today when Building Commissioner Paschen returns to the city from a week-end trip.

Two Join in Appeal.
The appeal to the zoning board was filed by Attorney Lester L. Falk for Mr. Edmunds and the Michigan-Lake corporation, both owners of property near the Cuneo site. Mr. Falk charged that the building permit is invalid because it authorizes a building damaging his clients' property by shutting off light and air. Further, he alleges, the new zoning law on which

SUPREME COURT TEST IS BEGUN OF LEGALITY OF DRY LAW PADLOCK

New York, July 28.—(Special).—The legality of the padlock proceedings by which thousands of places in New York have been closed for violation of the liquor laws, will be challenged before the United States Supreme court for the first time by means of an appeal in the Woodmanstein Inn case, it was announced tonight by Joseph A. Shay, attorney for the operators of the inn and for the owners of the property.

Woodmanstein Inn, known also as Casa Lopez because Vincent Lopez's orchestra played there, was raided New Year's eve and on June 24 was padlocked for nine months. An appeal was taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals by Mr. Shay in behalf of the Casa Lopez Catering company, which operated the inn.

A week ago, Mr. Shay said tonight, he filed an appeal with the Supreme Court of the United States challenging on the validity of the padlock procedure.

The permit is based in itself a violation of the state zoning statutes. "We take the position that this case has no place before the zoning board," said Attorney Campbell. "If the amendment is void, the place to test its validity is in the courts. The zoning board has no right to pass upon ordinances. Its duty is merely to enforce them."

Mrs. Eva Holland Hamilton is chairman of the zoning board, which is composed of four members. One of these is Lawrence Cuneo, a first cousin of John F. Cuneo. It was reported yesterday that in view of the relationship Mr. Cuneo will pass his vote on the appeal.

Another development yesterday was the disclosure that Attorney Campbell, now representing John F. Cuneo, also was attorney in the Stone street case which was decided against the city in the Circuit court last December. As an outcome of this case, the city lost title to a valuable strip of property on the Gold Coast where a syndicate plans to erect a huge apartment building. No appeal from the decision has been filed.

The first open tilt on the Cuneo permit appeal to the zoning board is expected before Judge Steffen tomorrow at a hearing on Mr. Cuneo's plea for an injunction to restrain the building commissioner from revoking his permit in accordance with an order of the council buildings and zoning committee. Attorneys for the city will argue that the appeal knocks out Mr. Cuneo's right to an injunction, while Attorney Campbell and his associates apparently will hold that the appeal itself is illegal.

CITY COPS GO TO 'COUNTRY' PARTY; THEY'RE PINCHED

Two Chicago detectives went out to Brookfield on Saturday night to help a friend celebrate his fourteenth wedding anniversary, but before they could get out of the town it took Lieut. William McCarthy, acting chief of detectives, 40 persuade Police Commissioner Albert G. Fox, of the village, that the two were not dangerous gunmen and robbery suspects.

Sergeant Kyran Phelan, private secretary to Deputy Commissioner Stege, and Sergeant Arthur Caplis, attached to the staff of Chief of Detectives John Egan, were the two detectives. It was their desire to aid their Brookfield host, Carl Kohlman, 745 Sunnyside avenue, in getting rid of two suspicious characters who tried to "crash" the wedding anniversary party, that brought on the clash with Brookfield police.

Will Accuse "Crashers."
But last night Phelan and Caplis, explanations and apologies having been exchanged all around, announced an intention of journeying again to Brookfield today to testify before Justice J. J. Dreher against the alleged would-be gate crashers, Walter Zephyr, 20 years old, 804 North Lincoln street, and Joseph Speres, 21 years old, 2440 Ogden avenue.

Charges of disorderly conduct were placed against both Zephyr and Speres. Tells of Adventure.

Sergeant Phelan last night told of his and Caplis' adventure.

"Mrs. Kohlman said to us: 'You see those two fellows sitting over there in the dark in their car? Well, they've been hanging around here all night and we're afraid of them. They insist that Estella Rhein go riding with them, but she's afraid of them, too. Now you two are policemen and I wish you'd go chase 'em away.'"

They Are Arrested.

"As we walked up to their car, our hands cautiously on our guns, up dashed another car. It was the Brookfield police, and they pinched the four of us and took us to their station. But not before I had found a gun lying on the seat beside this Zephyr, who later admitted owning it. "This was at 1:25 a. m. and we fooled around there questioning Zephyr and Speres, and being questioned considerably ourselves by Brookfield police, who seemed a bit uncertain as to just who we were. Zephyr and Speres pretended to believe we had been trying to rob them. Finally Lieut. McCarthy came and vouched for us."

VENEZUELA NOW ABLE TO WRITE CHECK ON NATION

Has Cash Balance of 10 Millions.

BY GERALD MARTIN.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

CARACAS, Venezuela, July 28.—Venezuela is probably the only nation in the world which can at any moment write a check upon its nation.

President Juan Bautista Perez in an interview at Miraflores palace, Caracas, said today: "Twenty years ago when Juan Vicente Gomez was over the presidency, debts totalled $100 million. Today the total outstanding debt is nearly 14 millions, with more than 24 millions in gold in the national bank's coffers, giving Venezuela a cash balance of 10 millions. At the present rate of reduction, which is about two millions annually, the debt will be wiped off within six years independent of the treasury balance."

During the twenty years of the Gomez administration the nation has seen nearly 100 millions for public works, highways, schools, hospitals, sanitation, and docks. The administration also made an early liquidation of current revenue of nearly six millions, covering foreign claims adjusted and international commissions.

"We are proud of our New York highways which connect the cities between one time impassable mountains and which today are the envy of the world and better protected against accidents than the majority of similar American structures," said President Perez.

President Perez was selected by 800,000 votes after he had thrice turned down the crown. He was head of the supreme court and a prominent lawyer, and observers agree that it was a excellent selection.

President Perez said that once the Gomez regime had the government defaulted any foreign international obligation but had settled every claim, thus securing the confidence and respect of all nations.

The president stated that during the last twenty years there has not been a single unfortunate incident with any foreign state.

"I believe that no Latin nation is more friendly toward the United States than my country," he said. Gen. Leon C. Fernandez, commanding the expeditionary forces against the rebels in the middle west, is reported to be close upon the heels of S. Urbina, who is hiding in the Trujillo mountains, and Gen. Arvelo Cedeno, whose chronic revolutionists are heading towards the southwestern frontier of Colombia. S. Urbina is married to S. Jurado's divorced wife and Gen. Gabriel Lach, whom S. Urbina killed during a battle at Corp, was S. Jurado's brother-in-law, thus creating a family feud.

Observers believe that the Caracas trouble actually strengthened the Venezuelan government's position, as Curacao has long been known as a hotbed of revolution, which refuses to extradite trouble-makers to Venezuela, thus creating a thorn in Venezuela's side almost across the street. Curacao refused to hand over S. Urbina following former President Gomez' demand that the latter be imprisoned following his return from Colombia. President Perez has expressed his most cordial wish to American capital and enterprise and intimated that Venezuela welcomed and offered the fullest possible protection.

PONDELICK'S BODY UNCLAIMED BY FORMER WIVES

The body of J. Wallace Pondelick, well known photographer who shot himself to death Saturday morning in his studio at 314 South Michigan, was unclaimed by either of his former wives or friends yesterday at the undertaking parlor at 435 Plymouth court. An insurance policy naming Beede, his first wife, as beneficiary was his only asset. She said yesterday she would be present at the inquest today.

Miss Mabel Davy, his second divorced wife and referred to by Pondelick in his farewell letter as his "supreme love," appeared at the undertaking parlor yesterday with several women, but she made no arrangements to take charge of the body.

Seize Boy Robbing Freight Car; Says He's 'Lone Wolf'

Walter Bielawa, 17 years old, 1921 South Kedzie avenue, was arrested while trying to rob a freight car yesterday and confessed he is the "Lone Wolf" who has robbed more than 100 loop stores and offices during the last two months. Most of his loot consisted of small sums of money he obtained after jimmying the doors. He was turned over to the juvenile authorities.

THE LOSS OF CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS.

Two Cleveland newspaper men are under jail sentence for contempt of court. They are held responsible for editorial criticism in the Cleveland Press which condemned an injunction restraining the sheriff from certain interferences with race track betting. They are at liberty pending an appeal. Newton D. Baker is representing them legally.

He contends that the constitutional protection of the freedom of the press is denied if comment on such judicial proceedings cannot be made, and so it would seem.

Incidents and instances in which civil rights and constitutional guarantees are invaded, ignored or set aside are increasing day by day. Possibly because they seem to be isolated or to involve obscure persons or things or to be corollary to the operation of moral law they do not get much intelligent or any general attention. Each chips off a piece of the political foundation, but evidently each is regarded as inconsequential.

The Cleveland case became an exception to this rule because it touched an important newspaper in one of the larger cities. When a small Minneapolis weekly was suppressed because of its criticism of public officials there may have been a disposition to regard it as something unrelated to the general exercise of the guaranteed freedom, a view which could not be taken of the Ohio incident.

This Cleveland affair, in turn, cannot be dismissed as peculiar to one place and one set of circumstances. Its significance is that it fits in a general picture. Its denial of rights is a part of a general denial of rights. The instances can be found in state after state. It has reached some high places. Several years ago the New York city controller was sentenced to jail for criticism of a judge acting as a receiver and, although the criticism was merited, the city official was saved only by the intervention of President Coolidge, who pardoned him.

It is seen that the right to security in life and property is not respected in judicial process when there is a moralistic attack upon this right. A citizen may lose his liberty without trial by jury and he may lose his property taken from him. He may get a padlock on his doors for selling a bottle of ginger ale served with ice and a glass. He may be tried twice and sentenced to two terms to serve two sentences for one offense. He may be given a punishment so excessive as to be cruel and unusual. He may be denied rights which seem unquestionable. It will be remembered that in the Pennsylvania mining troubles an injunction restrained people from meeting on their church grounds to elect hymns.

The citizen may find that he is not protected in his home from illegal search and seizure. He may not be protected in his traveling from assault, injury or death. He may be killed and his player not tried under the state laws which are to prevent or punish murder.

In a widespread and populous country the incidents in which constitutional guarantees have been wiped out may seem to be small misfortunes or eccentricities, not to be apprehended by the people generally and indicating only the occasional imperfections which human frailty always will get into a system of law. That is an untrue, unground and even inhuman view. It is untrue because the individual in his weakness is the first consideration of the law. It is untrue because the events are not the products of imperfections but of policy. It is inhuman because masses of people are not suffering from injustices should be indifferent to people who are. Injustice may be dealt the person who has violated a law as well as the person of innocent acts. The law protects both and when it has begun to ignore the constitutional rights of a law violator it soon makes little discrimination in favor of the innocent.

That is the background of the Cleveland violation of the liberty of the press and it is something which concerns the entire country.

THE TENNIS PROFESSIONAL.

Vincent Richards, the tennis player who turned professional, or whatever one does to get loose from the amateur fiction in this game, in a talk with Westbrook Pegler, said that the sport was fairly certain to be opened up by force of circumstances. It must then conform to the ideas prevailing in golf. The professional and the amateur will compete in open tournaments, if the amateur is good enough. The professional will be earning his money respectably. As an amateur he is living by lavish handouts and expense accounts.

Richards said that the technical amateur of tennis lives luxuriously the year around at the expense of the associations and clubs which get profit or pleasure from the tournaments, but he can't put any really respectable money in his pockets. He can get something from testimonials and if he plays the racket a bit sharply there can be a conceded percentage for him in his expense accounts, but some of the time he is bound to feel that he is a social bum, sacrificed to a false standard of amateur sports.

Tennis unquestionably is the classic example of tortured amateur virtue with solemn taboos and transparent sham. The most unimportant thing it does is to decree that the professionals are untrustworthy. It establishes a Brahmanic caste in the game of a democratic country. It falsifies the distinctions between players who make their living by playing and players who are supposed not to and gives a meretricious standard for a popular sport. Golf has proved how unnecessary this is, and inasmuch as a great era of American tennis is apparently in its twilight it may be the first requisite of a comeback will be relief from the probability of control.

PROGRESS IN DEFENSE EFFICIENCY.

The war department's announcement that improvements in offensive armament made since the armistice have increased the fire power and combat efficiency from 25 to 100 per cent is highly gratifying. The most striking advances are said to be shown in greater mobility, longer ranges, wider field of fire for artillery and anti-aircraft weapons, greater speed, fire power, and dependability for tanks, and faster rate of fire for machine guns.

These and other improvements are not confined to our army. All the mechanism of warfare is being energetically improved by all the greater military powers and the navies are engaged in an equally active pursuit of progress. This has not always been true. The military mind is conservative rather than curious and inventive, and in times of peace especially armies and navies are dominated usually by bureaucratic routine and resistance to change. After our civil war a few alert minds, like Gen. Emory Upton, tried to bring about sweeping reforms, but made no headway, and military and naval reformers have met the same fate in other countries. But it may be that the influence of science and invention in civil affairs is overflowing into official affairs and the services are reaping the benefit. The United States service, indeed, should be the most progressive in the world, but German enterprise is hard to surpass or even equal. The new German cruiser type is a sharp hint of what is going on in the German navy, and we may be sure that the signing of peace treaties is not putting the damper on military and naval enterprises in any of the great countries. One of the basic problems of our military and naval preparedness is to bring American genius of invention, the American spirit of inquiry and experimentation, the American initiative and progressiveness into the field of national defense and keep them active there.

NEW AND OLD IDEAS OF WEALTH.

The British Labor government is said to be in a dilemma with regard to the mining industry. Its pledge is out for a shorter workday. The present law provides for an eight hour day. The miners want a seven hour day. A starving industry is being revived painfully. Even the Labor government is persuaded that the shorter workday might be destructive. It hopes that the miners will grant three years of grace, accepting some old age pensions as compensation for not getting the shorter day at once.

The ownership of the coal industry in Great Britain is baronically stupid, but the British workman has a set of working principles which are equally destructive of national wealth. It is apparently a fixed idea that the greatest spread of benefits can be had if production is regarded as a conflict between antagonistic interests, one seeking to pay as little as possible for what is produced and the other to produce as little as possible for the pay received. In consequence labor is regarded as a misfortune and an injustice. The retaliation is to escape from as much of it as possible, and thus restrict the making and distribution of articles of trade and reduce the general purchasing power.

This idea of industry as a class war, in which an advantage gained by either side must be a disadvantage to the industry, has antiquity, but it could have been at least staggered by the success of the United States in proving the benefits of the opposite principles. The American idea is that there shall be a wide distribution of money in order that there shall be a wide distribution of purchasing power. Labor well compensated shall engage in great production and a general distribution of all articles of commerce.

Great Britain, devoted to free markets and free trade by doctrine, has built the equivalent of innumerable tariff walls throughout the home country, barring people by classes from the expectation of using or the possibility of using many articles for which wide markets could be found if the wage scale and the volume of production were increased.

The British employer holds that if he pays well he injures himself, and the British laborer holds that if he produces much he injures himself, and these twin calamities of ideas have joined to wreck an essential industry, coal, which has been kept half alive by subsidy, charity, and pensions, staggered by strikes and permeated with misery. Now that the laborers have a sympathetic government their cure for their ills is shortening of working hours, from a reasonable, not an unjust, regulation, further reduction of production, or increase in the cost of it.

Such economy insists that general well-being is derived from an employing class cheating in wages and a laboring class cheating in work. If that will work out in prosperity then labor has no relation to wealth.

Editorial of the Day

GENTLEMEN ALL.
(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)
According to a Mr. Harry Doremus—who is said to have been one of "Scarface Al" Capone's lieutenants in his beer running racket in Florida—the successful gangster must be first, last and all the time a perfect gentleman. Capone himself, it appears, kept half alive by subsidy, charity, and pensions, staggered by strikes and permeated with misery. Now that the laborers have a sympathetic government their cure for their ills is shortening of working hours, from a reasonable, not an unjust, regulation, further reduction of production, or increase in the cost of it.

Such economy insists that general well-being is derived from an employing class cheating in wages and a laboring class cheating in work. If that will work out in prosperity then labor has no relation to wealth.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to Line, let the quips fall where they may.

TWO MOONS.

There are two moons for me;
one in the sky and one that lies upon the rippled water.
The high one hangs without a breath further and more chaste than death.
That moon is my soul.
The low moon lies upon the lake,
not one, but ten, when the ripples break, each like the other
yet each different.
Those are my mooded body torn apart pieces by piece, and each piece wanting all of something else
until I am bewildered by myself.
Then I see my soul,
serene and high,
and know my way
across my world, my sky.

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.

Leaving Mrs. Porters sliding to talk her own way out of the Birmingham case (they insist on calling them goals in England, although the right name, of course, is jail) we must start in pursuit of Mr. Slidings, who wigged out of the pub in Birmingham like a gay and giddy fool when he heard the voice of his truly wedded wife outside.

We must also look for the moment of Police Constable Higgins, who, not knowing the danger that threatened, remained quietly sitting in the pub when Mrs. Porters sliding made her dramatic entrance. We must even look for a short time at least of the fact that Sir Algernon Somerset, Bart., was foully murdered in his palatial home in Manchester Square by a bullet right through the center of his forehead. We cannot say for we have sight of the murderer of Sir Algernon, for we have not as yet set eyes on that rascal, but Constable Higgins is sticking to his trail with the remorselessness of the ferocious bulldog, and we shall, no doubt, come in contact with him soon.

Our mission at present is to follow that distinguished and extremely agile American tourist, Mr. Porters sliding, as he flees madly away from the proximity of his wife. Nor should we harshly criticize him. As the poet has said so beautifully, "To know all is to forgive all." Mr. Slidings has come to England in search of innocent recreation and enjoyment while Mrs. Sliding is seeking culture and art. And she is accompanied by their earnest American ladies, members of the Porters Sliding Women's club, dedicated to the noble cause of righteousness as they see it, and determined that everybody else shall see it in the same way. Hence, Porters sliding fled.

It is a tortuous trail we follow as we journey in the wake of Porters sliding. It leads us south from Birmingham, through lovely Gloucestershire, and into and out of Bristol, and on again until we finally arrive at Wells down in Somerset. It is a great achievement, this getting into Wells. The town is snuggled away so quietly, way down in the Mendips Hills, that you really have quite a quest to reach it in spite of the fact that three railroads run into it. A very exasperated traveler once said three railroads make it difficult to get into Wells and a fourth would make it impossible; and, believe it or not, Mr. Porters sliding managed it. He made hasty inquiries here and there along the route for the most out of the way place in England and some one told him Wells. So there he went and there we follow him.

Naturally we seek the great cathedral first, admitted by every one to be the loveliest of all the lovely cathedrals of England. But, hold, while all the cathedral, waving their red banners like fluttering pennons of a mighty army, shall we after all seek Mr. Sliding in the cathedral? Perhaps we shall do well to pause and consider. Let us think a moment. If it were Mrs. Sliding we were pursuing, Mrs. Sliding panting for art and culture as the hart panteth for water; Mrs. Sliding closely followed by the Porters Sliding Women's club; then we would do well to seek the great, cool gray stones of the cathedral. But we seek not Mrs. Sliding. We seek Mr. Sliding, and that is quite another matter. Let us recall that Mr. Sliding is fleeing from his beloved spouse for the very reason that "he does not wish to be dragged through museums and castles, to which we might add churches."

Therefore, we would seek in vain if we look for Mr. Sliding in the cathedral, old and marvelous as it is. Nor need we hunt for him in the enraptured crowd standing in front of the cathedral gazing spellbound at the splendid western facade with its mighty sculptures. To Deum, the greatest glory of the cathedral Mr. Porters sliding as an American seeking escape from Mrs. Sliding, art, culture, the Porters Sliding Women's club, and the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States of America. There are many pubs in Wells. Places where a gentleman sitting at a table may order Scotch and Polly, or a Side Car, or a glass of stout, ale, or beer. Peering into the first pub we come to, who is it we behold sitting at a table and looking with great approval at a glass of Scotch and Polly which the smiling barmaid has just placed in front of him?

Bless my soul, it's none other than Porters sliding himself.

Tomorrow Is Pajama Day!

Peter's Wife writes imploringly regarding our great Pajama Revolutionary Parade tomorrow. "By all means burst forth in pajamas, you poor she!" says Peter's Wife. "You've worn horrible hot clothes long enough. But, fervent make, make your pajamas wear the pajama coat loosely, flowing on the outside of the trousers, and not tucked in like some horrible persons (naming no names) have a habit of doing." It is so ordered. Pajama coats flowing loosely and even limply on the outside, gentlemen. Marchers who tuck their coats in their pants will be ruthlessly ejected.

NEW ANTI-MOSQUITO RECIPE.

THE BRAZILIANS recommend a new recipe for killing mosquitoes in houses. It consists of one part methyl salicylate, 50 parts pure carbon tetrachloride and 1,000 parts kerosene oil. This is sprayed by means of a painter's spraying machine. Where possible this machine is driven by an electric motor. If it is necessary to make use of a hand spray the smoke should be driven with as much force as possible. Killing mosquitoes is not as necessary to get as deeply into cracks as in the case with bedbug extermination, where the insecticide will not be effective unless it gets into the recesses in which insects can hide. When spraying is not possible they recommend burning sulphur or pyrethrum.

The Rio de Janeiro physicians became interested in mosquito control because of an epidemic of yellow fever in that city in 1923. Rio de Janeiro had not had any yellow fever in twenty years and the authorities and the people thought they might be permanently rid of the disease. They are now convinced that somewhere in northern Brazil, maybe in some part of the valley of Amazon, yellow fever is still maintained in a state of latent life. In that hidden section it prevails as a permanent year round disease, mild in type and causing but little trouble.

The factors have arisen to make this stronghold threatening to Rio de Janeiro. Flying machines are coming into the tropics and a large number of yellow fever cases can be carried. When spraying is not possible they recommend burning sulphur or pyrethrum.

ELIGIBILITY TO PAROLE.

Chicago, July 20.—A party forged some checks and was given from one to six years in the penitentiary. He was told to get his place quickly, to get the easier for him to get out on probation. You kindly give the method to pursue to get his case before the board of pardons?

T. A. R.
On indeterminate sentence (such as 10 to 10 years or 10 years to life) eligibility to parole comes only when the minimum sentence has been served.

On definite sentence (such as 10 years) imposed after June 8, 1920, a short cut way is to serve the full term of 10 years and to divide the maximum by 5 and add 1 year and 3 months. (This on a 6 year sentence eligibility to parole would come after 1 year and 3 months.) On sentences of 4 years and less the term to be served is slightly shorter; thus on 2 years it is 1 year and 3 months.

On definite sentence imposed before June 8, 1920, there is an additional "progressive" sentence of 1 month for each year of 10 months and 15 days on a 20 year sentence. Further information can be secured by writing to the Supervisor of Parole, Division of Prisons, State House, Springfield, Ill.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 25, 1854.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Army of the Potomac has again been ordered to move. On the night of July 25 a force moved to the north bank of the James river and surprised the enemy in position there. The next day the rebels were driven from the Upper Potomac and is moving for the Philladelphia. Pa.—Details have been received of the fate of Col. Mulligan. During a charge on the rebels at the battle of Winchester he was shot in the head and died. A squad of his men attempted to carry him from the field, when the rebels came charging on and the colors of Mulligan's Irish brigade were engaged. He said to the squad carrying him, "Lay me down and save the flag." At first the men refused his order they laid him down and he fell into the hands of the rebels. His body was accompanied a flag of truce sent to ascertain his condition, and, if dead, secure the body, with what success is not known.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 20, 1910.

CHICAGO.—Fifteen thousand street car and elevated railway train men went on strike at 4 o'clock this morning. Every car was in its barn, and not a wheel turned after that hour. Six thousand of the employees in mass meeting which approached a riot crowd last night the wage compromise agreed upon earlier in the day by their own officials with Gov. Lowden. The compromise offer was 65 cents for all surface car men, who now receive 48 cents an hour, and 67 cents an hour for the elevated men, who now receive 58 cents an hour. An eight hour day with time and a half for overtime was offered to both sets of employees. The radicals swept the regulars out of authority in the meeting until the strike had been voted. "To hell with the public!" And "The public be damned!" were cries heard in the hall.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 20, 1890.

BELLEVIEW, Ill.—The Rt. Rev. John J. Janssen of this place, bishop of the Belleville diocese, is about to excommunicate all the members of St. Patrick's parish in East St. Louis. Janssen is so furious with the parish that he is expected that within 24 hours it is expected that an excommunication of an entire parish. The action will be the culmination of three months' resistance to ecclesiastical authority.

CHICAGO.—Rioting that ended in looting, arson and murder broke loose in Chicago's "black belt" last evening and before 8 o'clock this morning 20 persons had been killed and 153 wounded. Of the dead thirteen were whites and seven colored. The actual list of the injured made up for Tribune included 69 whites and 69 colored. The trouble began with the hurling of bricks and firing of revolvers at 34th street and Wabash avenue at 7:30 p. m. Before many hours the rioting spread to 35th and Halsted, all through the "black belt," and into Hyde Park region. One of the worst riots was at 47th street and Grand Boulevard. Every available policeman was rushed to the feud scene, former soldiers and sailors were sworn in, four guards and reserve militia regiments, numbering 5,000, were called out and mobilized. Adjt. Gen. Frank S. Dickson is in charge of the troops. Mayor Thompson made the request for troops and Acting Gov. John G. Oakes promptly ordered the soldiers out.

AMERICA'S NAVAL SACRIFICE.

Chicago, July 20.—Your paper today carries a story on Hoover's order to stop construction of cruisers whose completion was supposedly made mandatory by the provisions of the law except in case of actual, not probable, international agreement to limit arms. Apparently our government needs more than one conference to teach it a lesson in international politics.

It appears that when our statesmen become Presidents of the United States their thoughts turn toward world figures, making gestures toward peace, and otherwise becoming big, broad men in world affairs, to the neglect too often of their duties to their own country. President Hoover's action, placing the United States in an embarrassing position by stopping construction ahead of any actual agreement on the part of others to reduce (as distinguished simply from their gestures to stop becoming even more powerful) we lose bargaining power at any conference, and make resumption of building at the failure of any conference an occasion for criticism both at home and abroad.

TOO MANY CHILDREN.

Chicago, July 20.—Today you carry a letter from a mother who writes that young boys do nothing but play. She says that she has four children, and that she has four. Perhaps they are not so busy as you think.

A BUSINESS AFFAIR.

Chicago, July 20.—If T. J. Ryan, who is a nobody, ever writes to the Tribune, it will be coming from him. He ought to show at least enough common sense to refrain from producing anything in which he can give any satisfaction to a poverty stricken man.

CHIEF FOR THE MILLENNIUM.

Philadelphia, Wis., July 20.—A thousand congratulations on this morning's cartoon. Yesterday the peace pact was weaker than water. Today it swoops down on old man war, seizes him by the back of his pants and the hair of his head and hauls him headlong from the world. Once more Saul is among the prophets, and who knows what a day or an hour may bring forth. Possibly the water wagon is just around the corner. It won't be long.

CONCERNING THE KELLOGG TREATY.

Milton, Wis., July 20.—Well, the Kellogg peace treaty has been launched with due solemnity. It carries nothing in its bosom but the burden of future bitter disappointment and disillusionment.

STORY OF THE LOSTEN GRAVE.

Chicago, July 20.—In regard to the letter of "I. M." of Stratford, Ill., the lonely grave on the south side of 23d street, I have the clipping of the picture from THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, March 4, 1920, which has the following caption: "Andrea Zingelli, 1791; died 1858. Here rest his bones, as Zingelli's army against Napoleon. Later he came to America. Found Chicago, he followed the career of a lake southward to business, and then to the city. At his death he was as he wished, on his land. The family scattered, taxes were neglected, and record was lost in the Chicago fire. Industry came, and out of it all Zingelli's heirs have been left to protect his resting place for all time."

A DAINTY SIP OF BEER.

Chicago, July 20.—Your issue of July 24, "Berlin Quizzes Up JOURNAL of Real Beer."

Do the German people quize the liquid? As an American citizen I am a man birth I dissent this view "guilt." Animals—yes, pigs—quize the liquid. The people of Germany have enough etiquette, even when they are, to dissent from the German American societies wish to (to) you be careful with your grammar in the future writing of your captions.

ON GUARD.

Chicago, July 20.—Many of your readers, I am sure, were glad to see the Tribune's 2nd the average of public health yesterday's editorial, "On Guard." It takes real courage these days even for a newspaper of the pretensions of the Tribune, to reprint headlines that never when they are in the news.

RECORDER LOSES BATTLE OVER A. R. QUARTERS

He Still Seeks Place for Hideout.

County Recorder Clayton Smith has asked his steps on the G. A. R. quarters on the ninth floor of the county building. Mr. Smith has been trying to get the veterans and take possession of their room as a refuge from the office seekers and professional handshakers. An armistice will be signed today with Sheriff Truesher, acting custodian, permitting the veterans to keep their quarters.

Under the provisions of the treaty between Smith and the veterans, the recorder will not drop his fight. It is said that he is content with an encroachment on the air rights of the building. The roof is available for bungalows which would be excluded retreats from the mad world. The hazards of electricity and the noise of ventilating machinery immediately below the roof would discourage the more permanent armistice, it was pointed out.

Smith's plan to build a new building for the veterans is not popular with the recorder. He also has an ace in the hole in the sub-basement of his office. The house of the records of his office until recently a portion was used as a restaurant for his employees. The restaurant might easily be converted into a bomb proof dugout, a perfect hideout for the official who would adopt heroic measures to work.

Smith's plan was not enthusiastically received by the recorder. He has declared that it would add to the clutter of his office, as other officials are clamoring for nooks would adopt the recorder's plan and give the county a room air colony, which might draw some attack.

Truesher Opposes Idea. "We have enough duplex apartments in the building now," the sheriff said. "I have none and am not looking for one, but I need space for my room. I don't like this idea of a retreat anywhere. I have as many callers as any one, yet I manage to see them and get my work done. I am not running a home for the officials, and the public won't stand for it. Some day they will have to be abolished to make room for necessary offices."

The hideout idea was introduced by President Cermak of the county board, who built himself a suite on floor 3 1/2 last year with a secret exit to the city hall by a double guarantee against raiding. The plan was adopted by former Bundeen, who took over the duties of the coroner's chemist on the fifth floor when the latter was transferred to the county hospital. The plan was adopted by the county board, who persuaded the county board to give him an office in the county building as a retreat from his establishment on the west side.

Truesher Opposes Idea. "We have enough duplex apartments in the building now," the sheriff said. "I have none and am not looking for one, but I need space for my room. I don't like this idea of a retreat anywhere. I have as many callers as any one, yet I manage to see them and get my work done. I am not running a home for the officials, and the public won't stand for it. Some day they will have to be abolished to make room for necessary offices."

The hideout idea was introduced by President Cermak of the county board, who built himself a suite on floor 3 1/2 last year with a secret exit to the city hall by a double guarantee against raiding. The plan was adopted by former Bundeen, who took over the duties of the coroner's chemist on the fifth floor when the latter was transferred to the county hospital. The plan was adopted by the county board, who persuaded the county board to give him an office in the county building as a retreat from his establishment on the west side.

Truesher Opposes Idea. "We have enough duplex apartments in the building now," the sheriff said. "I have none and am not looking for one, but I need space for my room. I don't like this idea of a retreat anywhere. I have as many callers as any one, yet I manage to see them and get my work done. POLICE ACT TO HALT NOISE OF BOATS ON LAKE

New Patrol Will Warn Offenders.

No more will motorboats be permitted to wend their ways along Lake Michigan's shore with mufflers wide open, interfering with the peace of mind and slumbers of adults and children. A boatload of policemen will be on guard to see that speed boats speed silently if at all and that outboard motors keep their noise to themselves.

Harry A. Ash, of the attorney general's office announced yesterday that in pursuance to numerous complaints Commissioner Russell has agreed to act if some one will provide a boat. And it has been promised that the boat will be forthcoming and afterwards it will be forthcoming to abate nuisances.

Plan to Pass Ordinance. Ald E. I. Frankhauser of the Forty-ninth ward—which has a considerable lake frontage—has conferred with First Assistant Corporation Counsel Green regarding an ordinance prohibiting the operation of power boats with muffler cutouts open inside the three mile limit. "With the ordinance, if it is passed as expected, will be an appropriation for a police boat to guard the sleep of mothers and babes, but meanwhile the boat is to be supplied by interested citizens, Mr. Ash announced.

Park Has No Authority. President Pike of the Lincoln park board said the park officials were without authority to enforce any regulations, excepting on boats using park harbors, and most of the offending boats are said to be owned in the territory north of Chicago.

The motor boat patrol will first give warnings and later make arrests, according to present police plans, Ash announced.

SOVIETS HOPE TO EARN U. S. AMITY WITH TRADE BAIT

Abandon Hope of Official Recognition.

BY DONALD DAY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
RIGA, Latvia, July 28.—The Soviet government definitely has abandoned the hope of obtaining recognition from the United States in the near future. Instead of trying to win the support of the American politicians a new program has been adopted at Moscow for an effort which in the next few years hopes to change American public opinion concerning Russia. According to a member of Joseph Stalin's cabinet, who has arrived in Chicago for a short vacation at Riga and who consented to an interview on condition that his name be withheld, the Soviet government hopes to make sufficient friends in American engineering and business circles to eventually win the widespread impression in America that Russia is an unshakeable country to do business with and that it is impossible for foreigners taking concerns to make a profit.

U. S. Politicians Hostile.

"With the exception of Senator Borah, the Soviet government has no friends among America's higher political circles," said the deputy commissar. "American politicians are influenced by the desire of their constituents and are afraid to advocate relations with Russia. During the last three years we have tried to organize excursions for American politicians in Russia, but have failed because the politicians refused to accept the invitations. We now realize that until the opinion of the American public has been changed we can neither expect nor demand recognition or credit."

"Our new policy, advanced by acting commissar of affairs, M. Litvinov, includes arranging excursions for American businessmen and engineers in Russia. The plan also includes the employment of a large number of American engineers and technicians."

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Wash., D. C., July 28.—(Special.)—The body of a woman, who was killed and her sister who was severely injured when their automobile was struck by a truck on the city streets of Washington, was found today by police. The woman was found lying on the street, and the truck driver was arrested. The accident occurred on a busy street in the city, and the police are investigating the cause of the crash.

WHY WE CROW

An honest confession is good for the soul, so they say. Hence, we willingly admit AFTER DARK came into Chicago on gun shoes. For the first week or so the few customers who came didn't seem to GET IT. Then word got about town that here was an old melodrama, done in the manner of the past generation, whose appeal to present day theatregoers afforded the DROLLEST COMEDY TREAT of the Century. Where Granddad yelled with glee at the noble heroes of OLD TOM or Grandma shed tears at the tribulations of ELIZA, Boys and Girls, born since Bill Bryan stamped 'em at the Coliseum with his "Cross of Gold" harangue, found the RICHEST VEIN OF PURE FUN Chicago has ever enjoyed. As a result, AFTER DARK is in town. Visitors are aware that not to see it is like going to Niagara and missing the Falls.

AND CHILE NEW PACT AT BOLIVIA

Third Power from Pacific Outlet.

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 28.—(AP)—A general treaty ending the long standing dispute over the provinces of Antofagasta and Arica between Chile and Peru was made public today.

The treaty, which apparently would provide further details for relations between the two countries, stated emphatically that no part of the territory covered in the treaty could be ceded to a third power, which apparently would be the strong Bolivian desire to obtain an outlet to the Pacific.

Complete Text-Arica Paid.

The text of the protocol reads in part:

"The governments of Chile and Peru agree to subscribe to complete the protocol to the treaty signed on the same date.

"First: The governments of Chile and Peru cannot under the previous protocol cede to a third power the whole or any part of the territories mentioned in the treaty of that date.

"Second: The facilities of the port of Antofagasta in article 5 of the agreement give Peru absolute freedom of passage of passengers, merchandise and goods to Peruvian territory and to the territory of Chilean territory."

The treaty was reached only after long negotiations and with the participation of the United States government. The only dissenting voice has been that of Bolivia, which says that as long as it is dependent upon a foreign power for a complete independence is impossible.

OPPOSES TARIFF BOOK CRITICS IN CUSTOMS OFFICE

Senator Issues Protest Against Clause.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 28.—(Special.)—Elimination of the provision of the tariff law giving customs officials power to exclude obscene literature, as well as the broadened provision of the house tariff bill applying to sedition and insurrectionary matter, was urged today by Senator Bronson of California.

"Section 596 has no place in a tariff, but the American public has tolerated it for many years because until recently it was enforced with comparative common sense," said Senator Bronson.

"Now the bureau of customs has prepared a black list which excludes from the United States many of the most famous works of ancient and modern literature, on the ground that they might, in some mysterious way, prove detrimental to American morals."

Interference Personal Views.

"The tariff bill which has just passed the house extends Section 596 to take in additional and insurrectionary as well as obscene literature. If this amendment should be interpreted in the same spirit as the original section, it will exclude all advanced political thought, or, in fact, any opinions which do not happen to coincide with those of the customs inspectors."

Sugar Still Attached.

The controversy over duties on sugar figured in a deluge of statements issued today in various quarters. Senator F. M. Simmons (Dem., N. C.), asserted that the purpose of the proposed duties on sugar was "to pay an annual tax of something like $60 million dollars to guarantee a high price and big profits to the producers of one-fifth of the sugar which we consume."

Rudolph Spreckels, sugar refiner, replied that the purpose is "to provide adequate protection to our domestic sugar industry, while, at the same time, providing against the exploitation of our American consumers."

WORKER IS SHOOTING.

Kenneth Kawicki, 32 years old, an electric welder, was shot yesterday while working in the Commonwealth Edison company plant at 3200 East 100th street.

He was shot in the chest by a bullet from a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver.

He was taken to the hospital, but his condition was reported as serious.

The shooting occurred while he was working on a piece of machinery.

his score card throughout those bitter summers but by all used to hit his outfields on the nose and his infielders would lose their caps and trip over the shoelaces and, generally speaking, the secrecy of the score card was discredited. Perhaps not discredited so much as tactfully ignored until such time as he acquired another talented staff as almost any manager would be bound to do in the course of so many years.

Then, the score card again would become a picturesque symbol of genius, for it is a newspaper habit to endorse successful people and things with mysterious or mystical character. I made several efforts to elicit from Mr. Mack and his intimates and from the facts of his career that strange story which always is waiting to be written about an old man, who converted egotistical hams into blinding stars but have felt thwarted by the knowledge that, given a lot of bums, he had been ball team, but given great athletes he had reasonable but by no means amazing success.

Take 1928 for instance. I would have been more impressed by Mr. Mack's score card if the Athletics had won the pennant in the closing month of the 1928 season when the Yankees stumbled from town to town on the western tour playing low comedy ball, while the A's, with the pennant to gain by a show of gumption, stumbled around after them playing lower and funnier ball.

So if Mr. Mack now sees fit to withhold from general distribution the thoughts that stir his mind on the occasion of the world series, the denial would seem to me something trivial and no matter for hurt or resentment, assuming that he and his employees will write their own compositions, wherein, undoubtedly, I assume too much, the material which they reserve for this purpose will be easily forgone, because in many interviews intended to detract the turn of the game or the inside strategy of a world series contest from those concerned I have never come by any information that was not apparent to any lay customer at all conversant with the game, as to the reader interested in such writings.

One must assume that there are still believers in paying quantities, who can visualize Mule Haas, Joseph Bojarski, Al Simmons, born Semanski, the home run virtuoso of the A's and all the rest of the staff, sitting at portable typewriters in the dugout between innings, beating the keys with the familiar knock and fluency of a rewrite battery in a newspaper shop, rushing out leads and angles on a theater fire, with hundreds dead.

Graduate Mile Tops Arlington Races Today

BY FRENCH LANE. The Arlington Park summer turf season goes into its final stages today, with the championships in practically every division already decided.

It has been able to determine the best horses in the various classes through the series of rich stake events all of which were truly run. They brought some surprises but no particularly big upsets and resulted as follows:

Handicap champion, Mistletoe. Three year old champion, Blue Larkspur. Sprint champion, Brown Wisdom. Two year old champion, Dedicate. Two year old filly champion, Captura.

May Get U. S. Title. Three of the leaders developed at Arlington may go on through to the American championships. They are Blue Larkspur, who already is wearing the 3 year old crown; Captura, which won the Lassie stakes handily, and Dedicate, generally recognized as the best 2 year old to race in the west this year.

Mistletoe may not be an outstanding champion among the older handicappers because he will likely pass up the long distance cup events this fall. But if he keeps turning back the track fields which battle in the handicap contests up to a mile and a quarter, his claim to an American title may be as strong as any other horse racing this year.

Two Stake Events Left

Two stake events remain on the Arlington program. The Mid-summer claiming stakes will be decided on Wednesday and the City and Suburban handicap will be run on Friday, which is the closing day of the meeting. On Saturday the racing scene shifts to Hawthorne for a 19 day meeting.

Reigh Count is eligible to the City and Suburban, the only stake for which he was nominated in America this year. But there is no likelihood of his starting. The field will likely include Dewagiac, Golden Prince Windy City, Mel Fox, Mearse, Lady Broadcast, Republic, Jean Val Jean, Blackwood, Montanaro, Jack Higgins, Glen Wild and Plumago.

Graduate Purse Today's Feature

The Graduate purse, worth $1,800 is today's feature and the field includes Mistletoe, Brown Wisdom, Dedicate, Mistletoe, Vista and others. It is a dash at a mile over the inner course and weather indications pointed to a fast track.

There are two other allowances events on the program one of which engages a field of 2 year old fillies which closely rivals the field which accepted the issue in the Lassie stakes.

1,600 Week-end Golfers Use Pickwick Course

All records for the handling of a golf crowd were broken over the week-end when the Pickwick-Suburban daily golf course took care of 1,600 players.

How to Reach Arlington Park

Chicago & North Western R. & St. Louis & Council Bluffs. Special Race Trains. Regular Days—4 trains daily—to 10 to 12 trains. All regular suburban trains—apply at station.

By electric line take State Valley car on the North Shore Electric to Dempster St. (Miles Center) and Auto Bus to track.

MOTOR ROUTES

Dempster, Monahan, Ballard, Bond, River, Milwaukee or Washington Roads to Northwest Highway; thence north to Arlington Park. Arlington Park is one mile west of Arlington Heights, 5 miles northwest of Des Plaines, 10 miles northwest of Park Ridge on the Northwest Highway.

Motor Bus service from Lawrence and Milwaukee Avenues, from 10:45 a. m. to 11:20 p. m. Round Trip. Yellow Cab service from the Loop $4.00 one way and $6.00 round trip for 6 passengers.

MIDDLE WEST
UTILITIES CUTS
GIANT MELONPlans Stock Rights;
10 for 1 Split.

By O. A. MATHER.

A sweeping recapitalization of the Middle West Utilities company, one of the largest holding concerns in the utilities field, was announced last night. It will involve a "melon" in the form of stock purchase rights with nearly $45,000,000, which will be paid for by the company. Second, it will afford a ten-for-one stock split and a larger payment of common stock dividends in stock instead of cash. Third, it will clear away the funded debt and substitute one class of preferred stock for the present four classes of securities. The new preferred will carry warrants to purchase common stock on terms to be determined.

Stock Close Week at 364.
Recapitalization of the financial structure and attendant benefits have been the recent phenomenal advance in the market price of Middle West Utilities stock. Last week it sold at $370 and finished at 364, making a net gain of 55 points for the week. Earlier this year it sold as low as 188. In 1928 and 1929 the stock sold as low as 12 and 13.

The recapitalization will be based on a special meeting of the stockholders at Wilmington, Del., on Aug. 18. It is proposed to give all common stockholders the right to buy one share of new common stock at $100 for each four shares held. At the company's closing price of 364 for the common stock, the value of the rights on each present share would be $22, and the total value of the rights on approximately 1,300,000 shares of stock now outstanding would be $28,600,000. About 475,000 new shares will be issued.

After these rights have been exercised, it is proposed to split the common stock on a ten-for-one basis and pay an annual rate of 8 per cent on the stock, payable quarterly. Thus, the holder of 100 shares would receive 8 shares each quarter or eight shares a year. Based on a market price of 364 for the common stock, the present stock would be worth $364, after the rights are exercised, and the ten-for-one split would raise the price down to 31.

How Plan Will Work.
At this price the 8 per cent annual stock dividend would be worth $24.80. For example, a stockholder holding 10 shares paying $20 a share will have 155 shares, after the exercise of rights and the split, and his annual stock dividends would be worth $210 based on the current market price. Of course, the value of the dividends will be governed by market prices at the time they are paid. After the recapitalization plan becomes effective, the company will have approximately 15,445,000 common shares and $50,000,000 preferred shares outstanding. There now are about 12,000 common shares and about 120,000 combined prior lien and preferred shares outstanding.

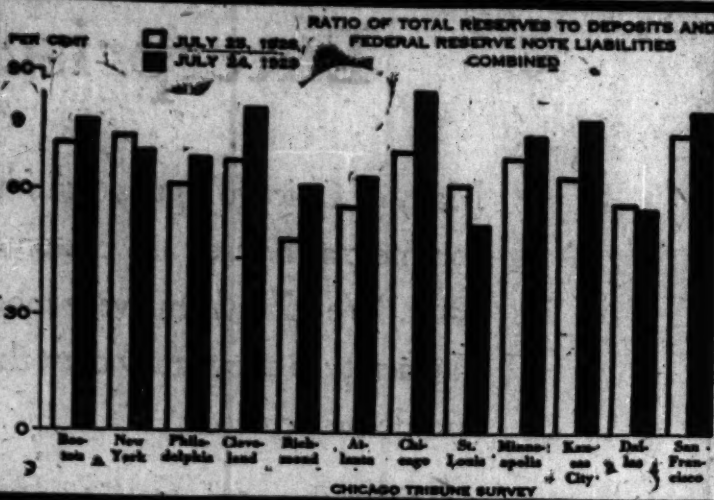

It is proposed to redeem the 8 per cent prior lien stock at 125, the 8 per cent preferred stock at 120 and the 8 per cent lien and 8 per cent preferred shares at 110. But holders of the prior lien and preferred stocks will be privileged to buy one share of new 8 per cent preferred stock for each two old shares held. They may turn in their present stock at its call price in payment for the new preferred stock and also in payment for the new common stock which they have the right to buy at $20 a share.

Common to Bring $25,000,000.

The offer of new common stock at $20 a share will provide about $25,000,000 and this, coupled with the sale of new preferred stock, will enable the company to retire the present prior lien and preferred stocks and also its $20,000,000 of notes.

While all classes of Middle West Utilities stocks now are traded in on the Chicago stock exchange and the New York curb exchange, it is planned to have the new shares also listed on the New York stock exchange.

Back of the entire program is the feeling of economic growth throughout the territories served by the Middle West Utilities system, which places on the company the responsibility of continuously increasing its facilities for service," President Martin J. Insull explained. "To do this it is necessary to have a financial structure capable under present-day investment conditions of maintaining a continuous flow of invested capital."

"The proposed charter amendment will enable the company to issue senior securities convertible into common stock or carrying rights to purchase common stock, and thereby expedite its financing by making its security offerings conform to the preferences now manifested by investors."

Dividends in Common Stock.
"It will permit the company to pay dividends in the form of common stock, thereby creating a constant source of new capital, and at the same time providing a return to stockholders based on the market value of the common stock in addition to any return from future 'rights.' The program has the further advantage, through the split-up of the common stock, of making the company's common stock purchasable at a lower price per share, thus encouraging a wider distribution of the stock by placing it within the reach of more small investors."

"In addition, this plan considerably increases the final equity of all the securities issued by the whole Middle West Utilities system."

Chicago Stock
Market Holds
Carnival Week

By GEORGE HAMMOND.

Chicago stock prices soared to record heights to the tune of more than a million and a half shares during the week just closed. The fifty-most active stocks showed a gain in value for the week of $104,811,937, or 5.71 per cent.

The total market value of these issues at the close on Saturday stood at $1,940,357,579, compared with $1,835,535,542 at the close of the preceding week. Of this list 21 were listed and traded in a year ago and had a market value of $1,351,625,635 Saturday, against $705,754,041 on July 28, 1928, an analysis of L. A. Co. shows.

Leads Radio Group.
Grigory-Grunow, which was recently split four for one, led the radio division on a weekly markup of 49 points. On this basis, the outstanding stock expanded more than $20,000,000 in market value. The directors are expected to place the new stock on an increased dividend basis simultaneously with its listing on the New York board in a few weeks.

Zenith Radio finished the week ten points higher. The company announced last night that it has made an exclusive contract with the Commercial Investment Trust corporation in New York for the financing of retail installment sales for its dealers. Eugene F. McDonald Jr., president, stated that this arrangement will greatly enhance Zenith sales for the 5,000 dealers handling the product.

Muncie Gear B was up 10 1/2 points on expectations that the company will figure in a merger with another company in the automotive part industry. Houdaille-Hervey A finished 5 1/2 points higher.

STUDEBAKER'S
EARNINGS SHOW
GAIN OVER 1928

The Studebaker corporation earned $4,852,686 during the second quarter of 1929 after all charges, equal to $2.41 per share on the 1,912,637 shares of common stock outstanding at the end of the period, compared with $4,603,423, equal to $2.39 per share for the same quarter of 1928 on 1,875,000 shares.

Net profits for the half year were $9,457,743, or $4.82 per share, compared with $8,583,296, or $4.44 per share in the first six months of last year. These profits do not take into account Studebaker's equity in the Pierce-Arrow net profits for the first six months, amounting to $1,062,985, or 56c on each Studebaker common share, which would make Studebaker's total net for the first half $5.38 per share.

Net sales for the second quarter amounted to $40,242,511 on 31,180 cars and for the half year were $77,981,436 on 61,298 cars. This compares with $46,494,091 on 40,954 cars in the June quarter of 1928 and $85,145,407 on 75,284 cars in the initial half of last year.

EUROPEAN DYE
MAKERS FORM
EXPORT TRUSTBut U. S. Industry
Works Alone.

By SCRUTATOR.

Sharp differences in American and foreign business methods can hardly be better exemplified than by the operations of the chemical industry in continental Europe and in the United States.

By a recently signed sales agreement, the dye manufacturers of France, Germany and Switzerland have divided world markets among themselves on a percentage basis. The department of commerce asserts that these countries have now a definite plan for regulating and fixing the prices of standard dye products.

From authoritative sources, the chemical division of the department of commerce reports, the basis of the accord includes, besides price fixing, the establishment of export quotas, the continuation of Franco-German collaboration in maintaining common sales bureaus, periodical re-adjustments of the markets and the exchange of technical information. These three countries in 1928 exported dyes to a value of nearly ninety-four millions, three-fourths of the world's exports by volume and four-fifths by value.

Conclusion Agreement.
Quite frankly and without blushing, the representatives of the dye industry overseas have gotten together and concluded an agreement that would be regarded here as calling for the close attention of the federal trade commission and the department of justice, although even the laws here make some provision to permit combinations of unusually severe charges for credit, building has suffered from its inability to compete with the stock market for credit accommodation.

Many observers have stressed this aspect of the business picture and have felt that the failure of building activity to pick up was a serious danger sign. While recent weeks have seen sporadic reports from various districts of some increase in building, the last week is the first in bringing prominent mention of advancing structural activity.

In the iron and steel trades mills continue to operate close to capacity. The report of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, released last week, showing unusually high earnings, and announcing an increase in the annual dividend rate, offers sufficient commentary on the prosperous state of this branch of industry.

For export that would not be tolerated within our borders.

For two reasons the cartel has not included the United States in the market territory division. One is that this country produces nearly enough synthetic dyes for its own use. The second is a desire to avoid the anti-trust laws. Incidentally, the various manufacturers involved have the right to dominate their own markets as they will and to compete on a free basis here.

It may be said that the formal agreement only carries out a verbal one that has existed for some years. The companies remain free to do as they will in the matter of profits; there is no division of them and the financial structures are not to be interfered with.

Clash of Ideas.
Dyes are but a part of the great chemical industry, which in the United States ranks third in capitalization, third in the number of employees, first in consumption of coal and second in consumption of electrical energy. From the beginning of the present century until 1928, it had increased its production about 500 per cent. Significantly, it did most of its business at home. The proportion of the products exported was no greater at the end of the period than at the beginning.

The dye industry will do to show how the countries market. Germany exports half its production, France one-third, Switzerland three-fourths and the United States one-tenth. Here is the clash of fundamental ideas on which the economic structures of Europe and America were built. The European idea was to make as much as possible of a given product, as cheaply as possible, and if the work failed to give the workmen enough to purchase it, then to sell to people outside who had money. Consciously or unconsciously, the American idea was to have the workman given enough to buy what he made.

American chemical firms are not in carts seeking foreign markets. They are selling all they can at home and competing independently abroad.

Building Goes Ahead Again
After Months of Doldrums

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 28.—Although hard and there evidence of the normal seasonal let-down appeared during the last week, business was a more continued to hold the unusually high and even pace which has characterized the spring and early summer months. For the most part, activity is reported slightly above the levels of a year ago and in certain industries, notably the iron and steel industry, a remarkable output is being maintained.

Reports by telegraph from the various federal reserve districts are noteworthy this week for the stress laid upon increasing building activity. Building has been the sour note in the general chorus of prosperity all year, having been seriously hampered by high money rates.

While other lines of industry have been able to forge ahead in the face of export that would not be tolerated within our borders.

For two reasons the cartel has not included the United States in the market territory division. One is that this country produces nearly enough synthetic dyes for its own use. The second is a desire to avoid the anti-trust laws. Incidentally, the various manufacturers involved have the right to dominate their own markets as they will and to compete on a free basis here.

WHEAT SUPPLY SHORT, WORLD FIGURES SHOW

High Prices Indicated by Crop Statistics.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A scrapping of the world's wheat in 1929-30 in order to make supplies equal requirements will be necessary, according to figures compiled from official and unofficial sources. High prices are indicated. The statistical position is more acute than in 1924 when wheat sold in Chicago at $2.05 per bu.

A world's crop of 3,180,000,000 bu is indicated this season, compared with 3,216,000,000 bu in 1928, and 3,141,000,000 bu in 1924, and a 1909-18 average of 3,041,000,000 bu, all figures being exclusive of Russia and China.

Crop Shortage Figured.

There is around 3,590,000,000 bu of wheat available for world requirements in 1929-30, including carry over, or 531,000,000 bu less than the previous season. This is the smallest supply since 1924, when total supplies were about 150,000,000 bu under those of the present season. The average world's disappearance during the four previous years was 3,441,000,000 bu, suggesting that the world, even after allowing for the record carry over from the previous crop, is 111,000,000 bu short of its apparent needs, without allowance being made for the normal average annual increase of 70,000,000 bu.

Drought in the United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia is largely responsible for the most remarkable change ever known in the world's wheat situation in the last two months. On May 31 wheat here sold down to 93 1/4c on prospects of a new record world crop. Since then there has been an advance of around 60c per bu, placing wheat prices about in line with the all commodity index figures.

North American Yield Light.

North America will have around 450,000,000 bu of wheat for export this season, after allowing for normal carry over requirements at the end of the season, or less than the quantity that Canada alone had to spare the previous season.

Speculative interest in the Chicago wheat market has increased so greatly that trading is now the largest on record, and the total purchases of futures for July exceed those in December, 1924, and reached 2,062,225,000 bu when the price movement started that carried prices above $2. At present prices are up over 50c since June 1 and around 15c over last year.

The key to the future trend of wheat values is held by Argentina and Australia, both of which countries have been suffering from drought, with reports suggesting a material reduction in the acreage. Private reports on the United States and Canadian crops will be given out on Aug. 2.

SALES BREAK RECORD

Bullish enthusiasm in grain speculation has increased more rapidly in the last six weeks than has ever been known, with the largest volume of speculative trade now on, of which there is any record. Sales of all grain for future delivery on the Chicago

Board of Trade from July 1 to 26 inclusive have exceeded all previous records, with an aggregate of 2,071,666,000 bu, as compared with the record of 2,062,225,000 bu in the entire December, 1925, an increase for the period of 16,441,000 bu. With three more trading days a basis of 100,000,000 bu per day would bring the total to 2,379,666,000 bu, or an increase of over 300,000,000 bu compared with 1925 record.

This increase in trade is mainly in wheat. The open interest in the Chicago market at the close July 26 being the largest known, 201,738,000 bu representing all deliveries, of which 105,584,000 bu was in December, the trade having gone into that delivery most extensively the past week. This open interest represents hedging sales, which greatly exceed the visible supply of around 115,000,000 bu, spreads between wheat and other grains, as well as between Chicago and other markets.

Farm Coop New Factor.

One new factor which is considered as bullish is the attitude of the new federal relief board in forming a $20,000,000 cooperative corporation to handle wheat. It also means the maintenance of a higher standard of price levels for wheat, which should be reflected in all agricultural commodities.

Big interests are believed to be behind the wheat market, who do their selling on bulges and accumulate supplies on breaks. Others apparently who are said to be long are doing no selling. The close last week was well toward the season's high, with net gains of 10@10 1/2c, July being $1.44 1/2, September, $1.47 1/2@1.47 3/4, and December, $1.54 1/2@1.55, with March $1.60. There are indications of a bull market getting under way in corn based on prospective crop deterioration from lack of moisture in some of the best sections. This is bringing in new buying, especially in December, which is at the highest of the season so far.

With wheat advancing, corn is expected to participate in the upward movement to a considerable extent.

The close on Saturday was almost the highest, with July $1.03 1/2, September $1.06 1/2 and December $1.04 1/2. $1.00 1/2, net gains for the week being 1 1/2@2c. Prices for the week follow:

Less Lard Being Made.

An advance of 20c in the price of loose lard as compared with the price of September is said to represent a reduced output of the packing houses, and there are expectations of a better demand which usually comes about this season. The provisions trade otherwise, while attracting a moderate speculative interest, is not heavy. Consumption is about normal.

Closing trades on lard were at net losses of 50@52 1/2c for the week, with prices 10@12 1/2c under last year. While dry salted clear bellies were given a little attention, liquidation of rice prices off with net losses of 17 1/2 to 50c for the week, with prices more than 1c lower than last year, while prices for the week were higher. Men Are Stealing Gals' Beauty Aids to Tune of a Billion

Our men may be no less manly, but they are stealing the girls' stuff, if you believe what you read in the department of commerce reports, and why shouldn't they?

Handy figures, those, issued by the department, in case friend husband says too much about what women spend on beautifying themselves annually. There's the billion dollars that men spend in a year. And while you may not agree with Will Rogers that "there are more baldheaded ones and more ugly ones and more funny looking ones than we ever had before," still it is a pile of evidence that bilion, stacked up against the male's modest assurance that beautifying is a woman's job.

And woman's place in the beauty parlor ain't what it used to be. I wouldn't say the sturdy male is crowding it. But he is sticking his head in—and for what, do you think? Permeantia! Yes, ma'am, we have the word of the trade that men like their curly, too. I read in a trade paper that "permeantia" waving machines are mighty busy, beautifying the noble domes of our men who aim to please.

We must take this with the proverbial salt grain since you have to have hair of a certain length before it can be wound around the small steel rod upon which the waves ride to permanent undulation. It may be just the hairless gent, noticeably long looked, that submit their heads to the infernal looking machines.

But I do know a gentleman, and one that could muss up Uscudun's name worse than it's done already, whose wife has to hide her bath salts, her powder and her perfume. Her creams are saved her by the man's barber's supply when the latter gives the massage. But then, as one observer points out, if the gals insist upon smoking his face, drinking his likker, getting themselves elected governors and members of congress—how else can the poor male establish equality if not by trying to beautify himself?

Seriously, though, why shouldn't the men go in for the "sturdier" beauty demands, such as nail grooming, fat reducing, mouth and teeth hygiene, and superb cleanliness? Appearance counts just as much in these major features when men want to make good business or matrimonial impressions as it does with women. Besides, if the girls are going to be all beautied up there won't be "no kind of equality" if their escorts aren't just as snappy looking.

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

A new thing in egg marketing is being started in Iowa. Producers and their customers are both to become more familiar with eggs and their value. Town and country people will take part in this plan, which is a state wide project to teach farm women to sell eggs on grade and to teach town women to buy eggs on grade. The new movement is being carried out by the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs, Iowa Farm Bureau federation women, the Iowa state department of agriculture, and the extension service of Iowa State college.

As a basis for the grading of eggs the Iowa state law will be used. This law provides for four grades, as follows: Special grade 1, grade 1, grade 2, and grade 3. Those familiar with grades say that the first two are excellent for boiling, poaching, cooking, and frying. Grades 2 and 3 are suitable in cooking with other foodstuffs, such as in making salad dressings and baking. The eggs are divided into these four grades on the basis of weight per dozen, soundness of shell, cleanliness, size, and interior quality as shown before a candling machine, according to the state college extension service.

The new project was inspired by the fact that not more than 5 per cent of the eggs from Iowa farms are sold at present on a quality basis. Market students point out that, despite this, all Iowa's eggs are sold on a quality basis when they go to the eastern markets. Leaders are working on the theory that both farm and town people are equally interested in getting eggs bought and sold according to grade.
